Agreement Reported in N.Y. Teachers' Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A teachers' strike snarled opening day for the 1.1-million-pupil city schools today, but it was reported a settlement was reached that could put most children into classes by Tuesday.

"I feel the strike is settled and all that remains is for the formalities to be settled," said school board member William F. Haddad. He said the schools should be operating normally by Wednesday.

The 53,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers struck over refusal of the local board for a group of mostly Negro Brooklyn schools to reinstate 10 ousted teachers.

The Board of Education said that 90 per cent of the system's 900 schools were closed. Less than 3 per cent of the teachers showed up for work.

An agreement spelling out the powers of the local boards and the central board in hiring and firing teachers reportedly was worked out in negotiations that lasted until early this morning.

The union's executive board was meeting to vote on the proposed agreement. The Board of Education was to act on it later in the day.

Some schools opened and some didn't. Because of the confusion many parents didn't send their children to schools. In many cases, the children who did go found buildings locked. They were kept in the schoolyard under the care of supervisors.

Classes were in session at several groups of schools which are conducting experiments in neighborhood control—including the Ocean Hill-Brownsville district in Brooklyn, which is at the center of the current dispute.

A board spokesman said that most of the major points in the three-way controversy had been agreed upon, but a few details remained to be considered. The UFT had voted overwhelmingly Sunday to strike the schools if the decentralization issues posed in the Ocean HillBrownsville district were not resolved.

Supt. of Schools Bernard E. Donovan said today that "district superintendents have been given authority to close schools where the absence of staff endangers the interest of the children."

Shortly before 8:30 a.m., Donovan said, "Public schools are open today.

'We have been working all night to avert the strike and it is hoped that agreement will be reached today. Teachers are urged to report to their regular positions."

Even as meetings between the various parties in the dispute continued, there were conflicting reports throughout Sunday on whether the schools would open.

Mayor John V. Lindsay said they would. Shanker said they would not.

Items Taken from Three Autos

Thirteen persons were arrested during the weekend and three thefts were reported by Sikeston police.

Bob Lee, 603 Elm, reported to police at 9:40 a.m. Sunday that a stereo tape player and eight tapes valued together at $168 were taken from his daughter's car between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday while it was parked at his residence.

John Donoho Jr., 321 Hardin, reported to police at 12:08 p.m. Sunday that 20 stereo tapes in a black carrying case valued at $140 were taken from his car between 12:30 and 9 a.m. Sunday while the car was parked at his residence.

Claude Byrant, owner of Bryant's Garage, 117 South Handy, reported to police that several items were taken from a car owned by James Taylor, Sikeston. The car was parked at the northeast corner of the garage, police reported. Items taken included a generator, a battery, a fan belt and two radiator hoses.

In other activity, Jerry Lee Light, 30, Poplar Bluff, and Claire E. Light, 35, Poplar Bluff, were each charged at 12:40 a.m. Sunday with peace disturbance for fighting at the Oak Room on South Main. Ola Hastings, a barmaid who attempted to break up the fight, was knocked out and taken to the hospital, where she was treated and released.

Fred L. Nelson, 48, route one, Sikeston, was charged at 5 p.m. Saturday with driving while intoxicated on West Malone, police reported.

Charles W. Meyer, 18, 914 Sikes, was charged by police Saturday with speeding on Ables Road.

Harl F. Hillis, 58, Essex, was charged by police Saturday with improper parking.

Donnie Gale Wright, 18, Bell City, was arrested for investigation at 11:52 p.m. Sunday in an alley behind Graber's Store, 106 East Front.

Richard O. Howell, New Madrid, Juanita Briggs, 121 Sixth, and Charlene Hammock, 306 Heath, were each charged Friday with careless and imprudent driving.

Willie Ray Staggs, 948 Lake, and Gary Burnett, Vanduser, were each charged Saturday with peace disturbance for fighting at the 21 Club on West Malone.

Larry Curtner, Morehouse, was charged by police Friday with driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's license.

Jim Henry Green, Oran, was charged Friday with petit larceny. He is accused of taking a battery and battery cables from Ozburn-Abston Co., 420 North Main, police reported.

Virginia Sherrod, 1413 Henry, an employe of Barkett's Big Star Market, Highway 60 East, reported to police Saturday that her purse containing approximately $20 was taken from under the counter at the store between 8:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday.

Court Refuses Rehearing on Toll Road Case

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - The Missouri Supreme Court today refused to grant a rehearing of the toll road test case. The court held the toll road law was unconstitutional last July.

In declining to reconsider it, the court did make a modification of its earlier decision but the change had no substantive effect on the adverse ruling.

The Toll Road Authority had been sought by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes as a way to open up quickly new areas of Missouri to Commerce, industry and tourism, without waiting for the time when money will be available for free highways.

Last Friday the governor told the State Good Roads and Streets Association Missourians would have to decide whether to change the constitution to allow toll road construction now or suffer the economic and life loss that poor highways produce.

The supreme court had held that the law was invalid because it would have permitted the use of state highway user funds to help pay off the turnpike bonds.

Madrid Airport Dedicated

By H. H. TOWNSEND JR.

MARSTON - An estimated 2,000 persons visited the New Madrid County Airport official dedication Sunday afternoon.

The new facility has a 3,200-foot lighted asphalt runway 60 feet wide and can handle aircraft as large as a DC-3.

Initial stage of construction was a joint county, state and federal project at a cost of $200,000. Next phase of construction will be an administration building, to be completed as soon as funds are appropriated. McMullen Construction Co. of Sikeston was the contractor.

Harry "Cuz" Moreland of Portageville was master of ceremonies for the dedication. The Rev. Bill Reid, pastor of the General Baptist Church of Lilbourn, gave the benediction.

Lennie Whitworth, construction engineer, and W. S. McMullen, contractor, commented on the project, saying that the airport was idealy located and that the terrain was such that enlargement could be made in the future quite easily. The site had been selected by the Federal Aviation Agency as the best available in the area.

Hal Hunter, prosecuting attorney, was principal speaker and gave recognition to Gene Copeland, state representative, Judge J. H. Calvin, Judge O.R. Rhodes, Judge James H. Workman and Baxter Southern for their part in obtaining the new airport and the related Noranda Aluminum complex.

Hunter commented, "This is just the beginning. I expect that in a few years we will see the enlargement of our airport so as to handle jet aircraft."

"With our expanding industry, I see no reason why this area should not become the center for air traffic in the Bootheel."

Crowd pleaser for the day was the airplane rides sponsored by the Boy Scouts and provided by the New Madrid County Pilots Association.

Beginning at noon and stopping only long enough for the dedication ceremonies, the rides continued until dark with long lines of people still waiting when dark came. More than 400 persons were able to take an airplane ride, many for the first time.

Ten per cent of the ride proceeds will go to the Boy Scouts and the balance to the pilots association, which will use the funds for the improvement of the airport.

Some of the pilots of the New Madrid County Pilots Association who provided airplanes were Barry Richardson, Portageville; Joe Bader, Lilbourn; Earnest Wilson, Portageville; Dr. Thomas H. Barnes, Portageville; Earl Walker, Portageville; Carmel Lacewell, Gideon, and Glen Hopwood, Gideon.

Student Increase Noted

School enrollment for the Sikeston R-6 school district will be slightly more than enrollment last year at this time. Present enrollment is 4,657, including all school children from kindergarten through the 12th grade. According to an announcement by Harold Kiehne, director of secondary education.

The addition includes 331 in both Sikeston and Morehouse kindergarten, and 207 pupils in Morehouse Elementary School, grades one through six. The end of September will increase the enrollment slightly over the last year estimate.

The addition of Morehouse added 35 children to kindergarten, 207 in its elementary school and 93 in the Sikeston Junior High School.

Sikeston will have 931 enrolled in junior high, to bring the total to 1,024. The enrollment of Sikeston and Morehouse students by grades for junior high is: sixth grade 315 and 34; seventh grade, 309 and 29; eighth grade, 307 and 30; total 1,024.

Elementary enrollment by schools is: Sikeston kindergarten 296; Morehouse kindergarten 35; Lee Hunter School 488; Matthews School 322; Southeast School (formerly Airport) 488; Southwest School 494, and Morehouse 207. Total is 2,330.

The high school enrollment, from ninth through twelve grade, has 1,264 students, with an additional 39 students in special education, for a total of 1,303.

Soviets Press Czech Regime to Comply With Kremlin Demands

PRAGUE (AP) — Slovak Communist party chief Gustav Husak met today with Soviet trouble shooter Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who is in Prague to accelerate Czechoslovak compliance with Kremlin demands.

Soviet Ambassador S.V. Cervonenko was with Kuznetsov, who is a Soviet first deputy foreign minister. The meeting took place in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, in what an official announcement described as "a frank and comradely atmosphere."

In Communist terminology, "frank" means they disagreed.

Husak is a deputy premier and a member of the Czechoslovak Communist party's ruling Presidium. His speeches have been getting favorable attention in the Moscow press, particularly a statement he made Saturday that Czechoslovakia will have to prevent the flight of more refugees.

The Communist party organ Rude Pravo reported today that Czechoslovakia's heavy industry, the mainstay of the economy, may have to curtail production "for a long time to come" as a result of the Soviet-led occupation by Warsaw Pact troops.

Rude Pravo said that during the first week of the occupation production losses in heavy industry alone amounted to 1,626 million crowns, or $227,640,000.

"In many plants it may be possible to compensate the losses," the paper said, "but the data prove that the smooth flow of production in heavy industry is threatened for a long time to come.

The Soviet Union has given a half promise to compensate Czechoslovakia for all damages caused by the invasion, and a parliamentary committee is compiling a report.

Rude Pravo said failure by Moscow and some of its hardline allies to meet their supply obligations to Czechoslovakia was one of the adverse factors. It said five large export shipments could not be readied on schedule because supplies did not arrive from the Soviet Union, East Germany and Hungary.

At the same time, Rude Pravo added "the trade representatives of these countries insisted on adhering to delivery schedules" by Czechoslovakia in other industrial branches.

Meanwhile, reliable informants reported the country's embattled Communist leaders have agreed to the stationing of Soviet-bloc troops indefinitely along their country's border with West Germany.

These border forces are not among those the Soviet Union has promised to withdraw from occupied Czechoslovakia when the situation "normalizes," the sources said.

Neither Prague nor Moscow has announced the agreement, but sources said it was one of seven concessions in the Moscow accord signed by Czechoslovak and Soviet leaders Aug. 28, a week after the Soviet invasion.

Injured

WYATT—A one-car accident Sunday at 12:15 p.m. on U.S. 60, three miles east of Wyatt, resulted in injuries in a Hot Springs couple.

A car driven by Arthur Smith, 75, Hot Springs, went out of control on a curve, ran down a levee and struck a tree, the highway patrol reported.

Smith received a broken nose, a concussion and cuts on his face.

His wife, Mary Smith, 69, received a broken leg and bruises.

Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston.

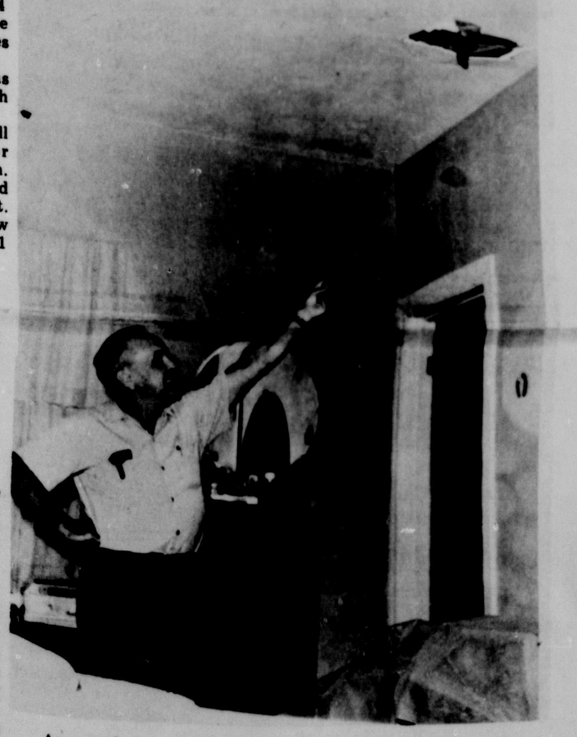
Three Injured in Local Accidents

Three persons suffered injuries in two accidents Sunday in Sikeston.

Mrs. Hansel Duncan, 306 East Gladys, is reported in satisfactory condition today in Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where she is recovering from injuries suffered in a three-car accident at 7:02 p.m. yesterday on South Main near Virginia St.

Mrs. Duncan was a passenger in a car driven by Larry E. Duncan, 25, 315 Edmondson. The accident occurred as an automobile driven by Roland C. Smith, 20, 623 Sikes, struck the rear of Duncan's stopped car and forced it to strike the rear of another stopped car driven by Fred Lashmet, , 47, Sikeston, police reported. Smith was charged with careless and imprudent driving by following too closely.

A car driven by Ronnie Crawford, 19, 411 Adams, struck and damaged a whiteway pole on East East Malone near Moore at 6 p.m. Sunday. Crawford and Mike Gilliland, 19, Sikeston a passenger in his car, were treated and released at the hospital for injuries. The accident occurred as Crawford was traveling east on Malone in the right lane. A truck driven by Clyde B. Thatcher, 28, 901 Sikes, also was traveling east in the left (inside) lane. Thatcher cut sharply in front of Crawford when a car in front of him stopped to turn left. , forcing Crawford to hit the pole, police reported. Thatcher was charged with careless and imprudent driving for failure to yield the right of way and destruction of city property.



Aroused by a cracking sound, Harry Chartrau, 515 Lake, was certain something was happening outside, and when he awoke and turned on the light, he discovered a hole in the ceiling, and part of a limb from a giant coffeebean tree protruding through the hole. The crash awakened Chartrau at 11 p.m. His wife and a granddaughter, Kimberley Dickerson, 7, were asleep in an adjoining room and were not injured.

U.S. Charged With Blocking Talk Progress

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two American newspapermen said today U.S. negotiators have blocked progress at the Paris peace talks by "dangerous and possibly fatal trimming" of the understanding by which the conference was arranged.

Contending they paved the way for the Paris talks during a visit to Hanoi last March, William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami News, and Harry S. Ashmore, former executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, said in a book released today that North Vietnam stated before the sessions convened that meaningful negotiations could not begin until allied bombing of North Vietnam stopped.

The book, "Mission to Hanoi —a Chronicle of Double-Dealing in High Places," was based on two trips to Hanoi and conferences with U.S. State Department officials in Washington.

Baggs and Ashmore were in Hanoi, engaged in private discussions with a spokesman for President Ho Chi Minh on March 31 when President Johnson announced his decisions to curtail the bombing of North Vietnam and to withdraw from the presidential race.

The two newsmen said they met repeatedly with Ho's representative during the critical period when the Hanoi regime was trying to decide if it would accept the partial bombing halt as a strong enough indication of good faith to warrant a formal meeting with U.S. representatives.

Baggs and Ashmore gave this account of their reaction to the Johnson pronouncement as they expressed it to the North Vietnamese:

'Mr. Johnson had surprised us as much as he had anyone else in Hanoi, we said, but in our view the importance of the announcement could not be overestimated.

'We took it to be Lyndon Johnson's way of certifying the sincerity of this new move toward peace—perhaps the only method left to him to do so in view of the steady erosion of confidence in his pronouncements at home and abroad.

"For a man of the President's temperament and ambition, the decision not to run again had to be taken as an act of political self-immolation. We thought it urgently important that the North Vietnamese take the new offer to negotiate and respond in kind."

The authors said their view of the President's announcement finally prevailed in the inner circles at Hanoi. After it was official that the North Vietnamese were willing to meet with U.S. representatives, Ashmore and Baggs said they entered into detailed discussions with Ho's spokesman on the procedural points of such a conference.

They left Hanoi with an "aide memoire" which they said spelled out the official North Vietnamese response to Johnson's actions.

Baggs and Ashmore said they delivered the document to the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane, Laos, and were asked to return directly to Washington where they met with Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, and Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy.

The newsmen said: "The North Vietnamese position was that agreement to meet under the partial limitation of the bombing constituted a major concession on their part, and they would not consider any further acts of reciprocity until the bombing had stopped—at which point everything was open for consideration, including mutual de-escalation of the fighting in South Vietnam.

'If there was to be bargaining, we said, it would have to be done on the other side of total bombing cessation; then, as we judged it, there was considerable room for maneuver if the United States was now willing to accept some form of coalition government in Saigon embracing the NLF (National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong). This, we reported, was the essence we had distilled out of many hours of direct talk and background probing.

"At this point it seemed as though Gov. Harriman turned off his hearing aid and the others in the room began to gaze at the ceiling ... The gloomy assumption, soon to be borne out by events, was that Harriman, as chief negotiator, was going to proceed on the basis that total bombing cessation was still negotiable, and stand on the old demand for a guarantee of military reciprocity ...

"Our waning optimism went down to zero when Harriman simply rejected our contention that the North Vietnamese had made it quite clear that, while they would make contact while the bombing went on, they would not begin to negotiate seriously until it had been halted."

Windstorm damage from a fallen 15-inch trunk of a large coffeebean tree at the home of Harry Chartrau, 515 Lake, damaged half of the roof last night at 11 p.m. The family has lived here for the past eight years. Chartrau is employed as a driver for Valley Steel Products, St. Louis.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

EDGE OF AUTUMN

There is a different feeling in the air now that the ninth month's mellowness broods over fields and meadows. Dawns are moist and foggy and one can sense nature's patience as the sun lifts into the sky and the fog lifts from valleys and swales.

September does not hurry; it is a lingering remembrance of summer. It also has the taste of on-coming autumn.

Not yet the blazing bonfires on the hills; not yet the harsh searing of black frosts. Now for a heart-lifting interlude royal colors paint the land. There is the purple of asters and the rich hue of thistles. Ironweed holds bright pennants on stiff stems.

Goldenrod paints pictures along dusty roadsides and brightens corners of upland fields. Along pasture lanes sumacs display maroon candles. Around the edges of swamps, chocolate brown cattail heads blend with sun-cured reeds and grasses. In shadowed woodlands the checkerberries are red jewels beneath waxy leaves.

The voices of autumn are beginning. Blue jays fly across the orchards and bugle to the changing season; friendly chickadees come from summer woodland haunts and explore the old Russet trees behind the woodshed. Crickets fiddle at noon in the aster bed beneath the kitchen window and bumble bees drone from blossom to blossom.

At dawn, at high noon and in mid-afternoon, one knows it is September—the ending of summer and the beginning of a new season in a cycle of time that man cannot control. But it is at dusk when on feels it most definitely.

When a man comes in from evening chores, he stops a minute in the yard. The sky is blazing with stars; a fox barks from the upland ridge. And then the sharp edge of a northwest breeze touches the cheek. It is September—still a remembrance of summer, but the scouts of autumn are here.

Farm Journal magazine makes a point about farming in an editorial in its September issue whose application to other industries needs to be better understood and appreciated.

It discusses the principles to which it hopes presidential candidates will subscribe in order to assure a prosperous agriculture.

One was this:

> In order for agriculture to be strong, farming -- as the nation's biggest business-- must be a money-making enterprise. Nothing less than that is good enough! Farmers must make enough money from their farm earnings to maintain the agriculture plant, enlarge their farms, buy new machinery, adopt new techniques, conserve the soil for the future - and provide a decent life for their families. Farming should attract the young and challenge our best talent to stay in farm communities.

The American people and the political parties are extremely conscious of the plight of the wage earner, who is buffeted by inflationary forces.

This sympathy is not misplaced. Alone, it is not enough.

There is no corresponding acknowledgement of the need for industry to meet higher costs, to modernize plant and to automate in order to promote efficiency, reduce costs, to make a decent profit to provide the funds to accomplish all of these desirable things and to enable it to meet foreign competition.

Farming is caught up in this same apathy.

The average city dweller couldn't care less if cheap food comes from an impoverished farming industry.

The steel companies are a prime example of this monumental public indifference.

For many years steel profits have been squeezed badly.

Why?

Because people are indifferent and because those at the helm of national government have encouraged inflationary wage settlements for steel workers while hammering down steel profits to the minimum.

The industry needs more money to modernize plant, to automate, to compete with severe foreign competition and with other metals and substances -- aluminum, plastic, glass and paper to name but a few.

A healthy profit level for all American industry is in the national interest. It promotes more employment and helps the very people, who are the most indifferent and who tend to think only of their own immediate, selfish pocketbook interest.

IOWA'S MESSAGE TO MISSOURI

Gov. Hughes of Iowa, having abandoned his favorite-son role at the Democratic national convention, has now come out for Senator McCarthy, and is likely to carry a majority of his state's delegates with him. We trust the message will not be lost on Gov. Hearnes and the rest of the Missouri delegation. The message is that if public opinion has swung so sharply away from Vice President Humphrey in a key farm state next door to our own, the Missouri delegation might be wise to review its position.

Gov. Hearnes abandoned his own favorite-son intentions some time ago, and says he does not favor imposition of the unit rule on his delegation at Chicago. Yet he is reported to be using Mr. Humphrey. If he and other party leaders put on enough heat, they could conceivably deliver to the Vice President so many of the Missouri votes that it would not matter whether a unit rule were imposed or not. But is this really what they want to do?

More and more, the idea seems to be percolating among convention delegates that Senator McCarthy would be a stronger candidate against Mr. Nixon in November than Mr. Humphrey— especially in the suburbs, especially in the farm belt. There are straws in the wind right here in Missouri. For example, one Missouri delegate, Frank Ferrill of Sikeston, asked citizens of the 10th district late in July to express their preferences, and according to United Press International received what he called an overwhelming response in favor of Senator McCarthy's nomination. If Southeast Missouri feels that way, what about the rest of the state?

There is, of course, no legal obligation for delegates to heed the wishes of their constituents. They are free to vote their own judgment, and should indeed make up their own minds. But in doing so they ought to be free of pressure from the party leadership to vote the leadership's convictions rather than their own; and if they are wise they will take into account what the trend of public opinion means in terms of the November election.

Gov. Hughes of Iowa is running for United States Senator, and his support of Senator McCarthy is a clear expression of his conclusion that a Democratic ticket headed by the Senator would be the strongest the party could field in Iowa. Along with the powerful McCarthy movement in Wisconsin, and the shift of Kennedy supporters toward McCarthy now under way, this raises the distinct possibility that a McCarthy ticket could make inroads into supposedly Nixon territory in the Middle West in November, whereas a Humphrey ticket might not.

The importance of this possibility is that if Mr. Nixon runs as well as he did in 1960 in the South, the Middle West and West, he can hope to win an electoral college majority by carrying only one of the "big five" northern metropolitan states (New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois). If, however, he can be denied the votes of, say, Iowa and Wisconsin, which happen to be the two farm states which Truman carried to everyone's surprise in 1948, then Mr. Nixon's task would be much more difficult.

The Missouri delegates ought to think it all over, very carefully.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans now gulp 30 pounds of aspirin every minute around the clock—more than 21½ tons daily—to cure headaches and calm jittery nerves. Is all that worry really worthwhile?

The United States now has more than 100 million telephones. or one for every two persons. This is nearly half of all the telephones in the world. What would it sound like if, at a given moment, all the telephones ecerywhere rang at once?

Speeding costs money as well as increasing the possibility of accidents. Checks show that a car that gets 20 miles a gallon at 40 miles an hour gets only 12 miles a gallon at 80.

Time has outdated the idea that women must choose between matrimony and a career. Some 15 million U.S. married women now hold jobs outside the home.

Looking for an interesting new hobby? Why not take up dendrochronology, the science of dating past events by the growth rings of dead and living trees? The idea of using trees as calendars of history goes back to Leonardo da Vinci, the Italian universal genius of the 15th and 16th centuries.

Our cat-and-dog lovers now spend $1.5 million a day for pet foods, double the amount spent for prepared baby foods. It's nice we don't keep elephants instead of watchdogs. An elephant can munch 800 pounds of fodder between dawn and dusk.

Just to keep you from tossing restlessly tonight yourself, the answer is —behind the horns.

Geographical oddities: Long before paleface politicians pitched their marble tepees in Washington, D.C., the Algonquin Indians gave an apt name to the Potomac river. Potomac means "trading place."

Sh-h-h-h: Medical science has found that too much noise can make you ill physically as well as tire you mentally. It is estimated that more than six million Americans work in areas so noisy they are a health hazard.

FROM TRAGEDY--- CHANCE FOR US

"I was surprised at the way the police treated me the morning I was arrested. I expected much, much worse. I talked to one of them for about an hour...

"I found out we had a lot of things in common. I mean, he knew all about how life is a struggle for food and shelter and other things. When we left he said good night and wished me good luck."

Speaking from his prison cell in his first interview since his arrest was Fred (Ahmed) Evans, accused leader of black guerrillas who gunned down three policemen and seven civilians in the ambush in Cleveland's largely Negro Glenville area.

Among the latter was one James Cahpman, who was felled by the snipers while attempting to aid police Lt. Leroy Jones, who was also killed. Chapman was a Negro.

In the midst of her grief, the widon of Jones was able to say of him, "It was a wonderful thing he did. My heart bleeds for this man and his family. I hope this act by Mr. Chapman makes the bond closer, draws more compassion between whites and Negroes...I would hate to think my husband died for nothing."

At the time she spoke, Mrs. Jones had received more than 100 letters of sympathy from Clevelanders, including residents of Glenville.

What a tragedy that only after any chance of making a useful contribution to society is ended for Evans, he and a white policeman discover they have a lot of things in common. What a tragedy that it takes a senseless orgy of killing to demonstrate that human compassion knows nothing of skin color.

Have we not learned enough from violence, and may we not now go forward-not as white Americans and black Americans but, as Robert Kennedy once pleaded, simply as brothers and countrymen again?

I DON'T care!" Four times within a week the writer heard those words. The very expresson, so commonplace in our conversation, is frightening.

First, they were spoken by a child selfishly demanding a better dress than her plainly-garbed mother could obviously afford. To every explanation, the child's answer was, "I don't care; this is what I want."

Next, it was a parent summoned before the police magistrate for the misbehavior of a son. Asked whether he knew his boy's associates, he retorted, "I don't care who they are"

Then it was a husband confronted with divorce proceedings; and, lastly, a 27-year-old man facing the penitentiary for armed robbery. By willful deed, as well as by word, each of these was intent upon breeding heartache and disaster.

How often do we say, "I don't care," when some detail in our work demands closer attention than we have been giving it; or some responsiblity in our home tries our patience. They are tragic words too lightly spoken, too quickly fatal.

During construction of a factory in a remote section of Arkansas, the contractor built a tool shed. When the big shed was finished and stocked with tools supplies, a night watchman was hired to prevent looting.

"Hiring that watchman's terrible waste of money," a native said on learning of the watchman's duties.

"how come?" a straw boss asked.

"Mister," the man said, "nobody in Arkansas ever stole anything to work with."

Doc. Duncan Says

There is a few things our lawmakers office holders and officeseekers refuse to even mention in their quest for dictatorship. Among them is the dodge of the Probate Court by corporations, the price of flour in relation to the price of wheat, the un Godly saleries, without the consent of the people who have to pay, all boiled down taxation without representation that makes John Bull's dealings with our Forefathers look like a benevolent rich Uncle and to cap it all off, everbody knows it's true and that we have laws on the books to remedy these injustice but nothing has been done about it so far, looks like both old parties are headed for the ask can and will be replaced by one party, and U name it.

It's comparable to a steam boiler without a pop value and the steam guage covered with a dark cloth, if you keep pouring on the fuel you are gonna have an explosion, and to cap the climax it seems like even when the people elect our most honored respected and reliable men when they get into the drivers seat they start pouring on the fuel with a Vim and vigor, not even looking an inch before their nose.

This all may seem to be poppy--- now, but unless there is an about face and soon, those living will see the point.

H.L. Hunt Says

'THREE IN ONE" CONCEPT

It is clear that the matter of restoring and maintaining law and order in the United States will be one of principal concern in this year's presidential campaign. That is fitting and necessary.

No candidate is likely to come out openly against law and order. But it may well be noted that some persons are trying to confuse this clear-cut issue by claiming that law and order are forgetting about justice. They would have the people believe that the three concepts--law, order, justice--are separate and distinct entities. They imply that the maintenance of law and order may result in injustice being done to various groups.

The three concepts are in fact so related that the speaking of law and order usually carries the assumption of justice. The purpose of enacting a law is to insure justice. Some laws may turn out not to have this effect, and in that case they can be repealed. But in the course of normal events justice is a natural consequence of law and order.

The question arises as to what objective is in the minds of those who willfully try to confuse the issues involved in this subject. We have to wonder if they truly favor for all Americans the kind of justice that can be obtained only if law and order prevail in our nation. If they are using doubletalk to advance certain purposes which they do not wish to speak freely about, the people should be informed as to their actual purpose.HLH

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: FBI reports NCB "bugged" Demo platform committee; Network claims mike was unconnected, nothing overheard; House reforms stymied by committee perennials.

WASHINGTON--In a confidential report to attorney general Ramsey Clark, the FBI has identified the culprit in the famous "bugging" incident at the Democratic convention as NBC.

A hidden mike was found in the hotel room where the platform committee was holding its secret deliberations. The wire was traced to an NBC outlet two floors above.

NBC explained to the FBI that produced Enid Roth had thought the meeting would be open and had ordered not only the mike but also cameras and lights for the room. She learned the meeting was closed, according to NBC, too late to withdraw the mike.

Miss Roth at first denied to the FBI that the mike belonged to NBC, but later changed her story, explaining that she had panicked. The FBI report claimed the mike was discovered under a sofa pillow. NBC said it had been taped to a window sill but admitted it had been concealed behind a curtain.

While the mike was in the room, by an interesting coincidence the communications plank happened to come under discussion. This was a matter in which NBC had a vital interest.

A rough draft of the platform had already been written before the committee assembled behind closed doors. On the subject of television, this merely stated: "The mas media need a broad base of economic support consistent with their obligation to serve the public. To this end, we have supported educational television."

TV VIOLENCE DEPLORED

When this was brought up, Vice President Humphrey's representatives called for a stronger stand in favor of "continuing support for the prompt enactment of a long-range financing plan that will help ensure the vigor and independence of (educational television."

The Humphrey forces also demanded a plank, that was later adopted, declaring: "We deplore the all too frequent practice of exploiting violence in television programming and urge the federal communications commission, through the use of its power to revoke and renew broadcast licenses, to end this practice."

NBC has denied that its concealed mike picked up the confidential discussion of TV violence or any other conversations. An NBC spokesman told this column that the mike was not connected to a recorder or speaker and, therefore, that nothing was overheard.

"Any NBC employee who is caught eavesdropping will be fired," added the spokesman.

NOTE: The national association for better broadcasting has just released the results of a survey which shows that the television networks are still featuring blood and brutality on the home screen. Frank Orme, NABB executive vice president, has accused the networks of pretending to adhere to a code against excessive violence while they continue to grow fat on profits milked from TV violence.

YOUTH VS. AGE

A classic confrontation between youth and age is developing in the House of Representatives over legislative reforms. Kindly old speaker John McCormack has marked the reforms for a quiet burial. Dynamic, young Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill., is determined to dig them up.

McCormack is fronting for the committee chairmen, who hold the real power on capitol Hill. They are inclined to run their committees like feudal baronies.

Most committee chairmen are past the 65-year mandatory retirement age that the majority of private corporations set for their executives. In the Senate, 10 of the 16 chairmen are past 65; six are over 70. The situation is much the same in the House, where eleven of the 20 chairmen are past 65 and seven are past 70. Yet these are the men who are supposed to stimulate our youth, to get America going.

Most chairmen also come from small towns or rural areas. Thus has Congress entrusted the explosive problems of our great cities to men from another time and place.

The flow of legislation is controlled by Senate rules chairman Everett Jordan, 72, of Saxapahaw, N.C., and House rules chairman Wiliam Colmer, 78, of Pascagoula, Miss. Most bills dealing with the cities are processed by Senate labor and welfare chairman Lister Hill, 73, of Montgomery, Ala., and House education and labor chairman Carl Perkins, 55, of Hindman, Ky.

No wonder the people of the ghettos and the youth of the country feel that their cries are ignored and that they must resort to violence to be heard. It will be interesting to see whether Rumsfeld can rally enough young dissidents in the House to overcome the throttlehold of the old chairmen of legislation. To move these old codgers will take an outpouring of mail from home.

LBJ'S MELON

Tight-fisted Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., perhaps in his exuberance over escorting "Miss Watermelon" about Capitol Hill recently, gave away a number of melons shipped in from his congressional district.

Pointing to an immense pile of choice watermelons passman passman invited Dev O'Neill, photographer for the Democratic national committee: "Take you pick."

O'Neill walked off with a big one.

The next morning O'Neill got a frantic phone call from a young lady in Passman's office.

"Do you still have that melon?" she asked.

"Yes," replied the photographer.

Who Ordered Muscle? Cosa Nostra's Allies Romaed Convention Floor While News Madie Was Muscled

Washington, D.C.:--This tortured Democratic National Convention must not go into limbo until it is reported that among the thousands of delegates were friends, allies and couselors of the deadliest Cosa Nostra characters.

True, they were but a handful sprinkled through several delegations. But they pressured and voted, and had the freedom of the floor denied to us newsmen.

Therefore it must be concluded that someone in the security setup of the old Democratic National Committee, now dumped by "the Hump" as the jargon has it, thought that intimates of ex-convict Johnny Dio, convict Jimmy Hoffa, and buddies of such criminals as the St. Louis area's Frank "Buster" Wortman, were far more trustworthy than the newsmen.

Mystery now is: who approved freedom for the friends and counselors of the hoods while tying down reporters and honored guests?

For example, at 8:06 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 28, the night of the presidential nomination, I wandered from the tight newspaper press tables into another part of the press section. A polite uniformed guard asked me to return to my seat.

I refused since there was no sane security reason for not walking up and down the press section. A polite uniformed guard asked me to return to my seat.

I refused since there was no sane security reason for not walking up and down the press aisle. Quietly and politely, the guard said he had his orders.

"We're on especially strict security alert tonight," said the chap, "and it would help if you did sit down."

He made no move. He did not push, above or use his hands. All he would say was that he had his orders.

This was a repetition of what had happened on Tuesday. Then the "orders" were that no newspapers could be brought onto the convention floor. Those were "orders" From whom? Nobody knew.

I checked with Andy Frain, head of the Chicago-based ushers' agency retained to supply 500 men and women for the traffic control inside the amphitheater. Mr. Frain, who runs a union shop, pointed out that he uses mostly young people.

He reported that 150 of his men were at doors, which had to remain open because of fire regulations. Another 175 were on the floor. There were 125 girls, 75 usherettes and 50 hostesses. They were directed by 50 supervisors. All 500 were in uniform.

Mr. Frain said he was not in "security" at all.

"It wasn't until late Saturday (before the opening) that we learned from the Democratic National Comittee that they would install those (credentials-checking) electronic machines. We stayed up until 5 a.m. to train our people and get out mimeographed instructions.

"And do remember that our people were in uniform -- except for about 10 of us, the family and top management, who were in civilian clothes. None of us was deputized."

Who then were the muscle-happy plainclothesmen? Were they Chicago city police? Were they secret service operatives? Were they federal marshals? Were they just overgrown huskies, with no heads, just necks with hair grown over, retained to push us around? If so, hey were not deputized.

They were told to keep their eyes on the New York and California delegations. They were told to watch for hand grenades. They were told to be particularly tough on newsmen. Who told them?

Did the orders come from the convention management? Or from some government agency?

Which now brings us to the official 126-page listing of convention delegates and alternates. I've spent days checking each name. Thousands of them are estimable ladies and gentlemen, governors, legislators, mayors and just plain political folk.

But also on that convention floor were such men as the St. Louis' Pipefitters local 562 assistant business manager, John "Doc" Lawler. He is the front for ex-convict Lawrence Callanan, boss of that local. Both now are under federal indictment for conspiring to violate the Corrupt Practices Act. Both know "Buster" Wortman.

There were Teamsters officials on that floor. Some have wined, dined and run with such men as the New York Mafia chief, Johnny Dio, and Chicago's Joey Glimco, who has been charged by Senate racket-busting witnesses with being one of 19 men influencing Chicago's criminal syndicate. Glimco is a Teamsters official.

On that convention floor were such congressmen as Jimmy Hoffa's friend, Missouri Senator Edward Long and New Jersey Representative Cornelius Gallagher. Both have been charged with suspect relationships by the press for some time now.

Yet all these men were cleared for freedom on the floor But we newsmen and our newspapers were banned. Why? Are we second-class citizens?

Mr. and Mrs. William DeWayne Whitson

Judy Kathryn Haws Marries William DeWayne Whitson

Judy Kathryn Haws, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Haws, Route four, and William DeWayne Whitson of Holcomb were married at 2 p.m. Sept. 1 at the Blodgett Missionary Baptist Church.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Whitson of Holcomb.

The Rev. Jimmie Edmondson officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli, white pompons and candelabra decorated with white bows.

Mrs. Pat Haws, the bride's sister-in-law, sang "Whither Thou Goest," "From This Day Forth" and "One Hand, One Heart." She was accompanied by Mrs. Dolly Ruth Brown, pianist, who is the bride's sister.

Given in marriage by E. D. Brown, her brother-in-law, the bride wore a floor-length A-line dress of white moire. The bodice was fashioned with long sleeves that ended in points over the hands. A train was attached at the shoulders and secured by a cluster of pearls.

A rose surrounded by buds and pearls secured a fingertip veil of white illusion. She carried a bouquet of white rose buds and lilies of the valley.

The former Miss Haws carried out the theme of something old, something new in her wedding attire. For something old, she wore a Kappa Delta sorority bracelet; for something new, her gown; borrowed, pearl earrings that belong to her sister and blue, a garter.

Maid of honor was Teresa Haws, her sister. Mrs. Jan Faulkner was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jennie Terry of Jonesboro, Ark., a college classmate, and Miss Linda Ward, the bride's niece. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Melanie Cummins, also a niece. Flower girls were Miss Angelia Martin of Bertrand, the bride's niece, and Miss Sandy Arsta.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of yellow peau de soie and yellow illusion viels secured by eyllow rose bud headpieces.

Each carried a long stemmed yellow rose. The flower girls carried yellow net and ribbon baskets.

Best man was Larry D. Owens. Bobby Higgins, Cecil Whitson and Ray Ward were groomsmen. Ushers were George Edward Brown of Jonesboro, the bride's nephew; Donnie Bishop of Jonesboro and Billy Deason of Blodgett.

Timmy Martin of Bertrand, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

Candlelighters were Mark Cummins of Griffith, Ind., and Eddie Embry of Farmington, both nephews of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a beige dress, brown accessories and a corsage of white roses and pompons. Mrs. Whitson wore a green dress, black accessories and a corsage of white roses and pompons.

A reception was held in the church dining room. The bride's table was covered in white and overlaid with yellow net. A three-tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells.

Serving were Mrs. Johnnie Segars and Mrs. LaBelva Ammons, both of Jonesboro, and Mrs. Frances Embry of Farmington, the bride's sister.

Miss Cheryl Ward of Cahokia, Ill., the bride's niece, was in charge of the guest register which was placed on a table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a miniature bride doll.

For a wedding trip to Memphis, the new Mrs. Whitson wore a white linen suit, yellow accessories and a corsage of roses from her bouquet.

They are living at 200 Richmond in Jonesboro. Mrs. Whitson is a graduate of Arkansas State University. She will be working toward master's degree while teaching in the physical education division of the university as a graduate assistant.

Her husband served two years in the army and has resumed his studies at the university.

Pobst-Grojean Vows Exchanged

ORAN - In the Guardian Angels Church at Oran Aug. 31 Miss Beverly Ann Pobst of Oran was wed Aug. 31. to Michael John Grojean of New Hamburg in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Gervase Ingoldsby. Mrs. Elmer Seyer was organist and vocalist for the service.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pobst of Oran, was presented in marriage by her father. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Grojean of New Hamburg.

For her marriage the former Miss Pobst chose a formal gown of English net overlaid with hand-clipped Brussels lace. The empire bodice had a deep Renaissance neckline outlined in lace scallops that were traced with scrolls of pearls. Soft gathers at the waist gave the skirt sweeping fullness. Over the silhouette drifted her mantilla that extended to the length of a chapel train. A purple throated orchid surrounded by lilies of he valley was carrie with her prayer book.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Marsha Pobst, maid of honor; the groom's sister, Miss Pat Grojean of New Hamburg, Miss Cheryl Hahn of Jennings and another sister of the bride, Miss Gina Pobst. Their formal gowns were of autumn rust crepe and they carried colonial bouquets of brown chrysanthemums tipped in gold.

Randy Grojean of New Hamburg was his brother's best man and Terry Pobst of Chaffee, brother of the bride, nd Larry Kern of Cape Girardeau were groomsmen. Charles Grojean Jr., New Hamburg, another brother of the groom, and Ronald Pobst, another brother of the bride, ushered wedding guests to their seats.

Brian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Pobst, was ringbearer. Flower girls were Rhonda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pobst of Oran and Lisa Grojean, sister of the bridegroom.

An all-day reception was held for wedding guests at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Oran, Miss Shelia Grojean, sister of the groom, attended the guest register.

The newlyweds will live in Marion, Ill., where he is an accountant with Gray, Hunter and Stenn CPA Firm. The bride is a graduate of Oran high school and the groom, of Kelly High School. He also received his bachelors, degree in accounting at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

Boldly restyled for a more massive front end appearance with higher hood line and silver- anodized aluminum grille, the 1969 Chevrolet light conventional truck models combine attractive styling with a sturdy chassis for work or pleasure use. Improvements include new brighter interiors, foot-operated parking brake, tighter door selling, automatic choke on all engines, and revised cab and sheet metal mountings for a quieter ride. New options include a 4 bbl. 350 cu. in 255 hp. V8 engine, and dressup moldings with black paint inlays or wood-grain vinyl inserts.

1969 CHEVROLET TRUCK LINE

Higher-powered base engines in three series, three new 350 cu. in. V-8 engines, major front-end restyling of light conventional models, numerous chassis improvements, and many new and expanded options highlight the changes in the 1969 Chevrolet truck line.

The new 350 cu. in. engines are optional in light-duty conventional and forward-control models at 255 hp. in two versions for normal or severe operations. A third heavy-duty version, rated at 200 hp. at lower rpm., is standard in 1-1/2- and 2-ton medium-duty V8 gas models.

In 2-ton heavy-duty models, a 235 hp. 366 V8 is made standard equipment, replacing the former 185 hp. 327 V8. Again, all Chevrolet gasoline truck engines can be operated on regular grade fuel.

Also new for 1969 is a Chevrolet-designed 3-speed manual transmission designed to accommodate the power output of the larger V8 engines.

LIGHT—DUTY CONVENTIONAL LINE

Major styling changes in the light-duty conventional series give the front end a more massive appearance, with a higher, virtually horizontal hood line and new anodized aluminum grille.

New cab and sheet metal mounts, better door seals, and a new steering shaft coupling which isolates road noise and vibration make the cab interior much quieter. A new polyurethane foam seatback cushion gives increased comfort.

Other new chassis features include automatic choke with all engines, two-stage multi-leaf rear leaf springs for better ride with light loads on models where leaf springs are standard or optional, wide-base tires on 3/4- and 1-ton models for better ride and lower vehicle height, and optional power steering on four-wheel drive models for the first time.

Among other improvements are new optional Below-Eye-Line outside mirrors with low-mounting brackets for unobstructed side vision and reduced wind noise, a higher capacity windshield wiper and washer assembly, and relocation of instrument controls for more convenient access to light and wiper-washer switches.

Interiors are brighter, with five new colors available, and a carpeting option now is offered for 3/4- and 1-ton cabs. A new design two-spoke steering wheel is larger for reduced steering effort.

Optional dressup items available include vinyl bucket seats with hand-tooled leather appearance, and a variety of bright metal trim, including exterior moldings with black paint or vinyl simulated wood-grain side inlays.

FORWARD—CONTROL VANS

Improvements in the Step-Van included a restyled front end for the 1/2-ton model to provide a hinged hood panel for more convenient access to the engine. Two-stage multi-leaf rear leaf springs with rubber eye bushings are new on 3/4- and 1-ton models, as are wide base tires for improved ride and handling and lower vehicle height.

Several improvements are offered in the 1969 Chevy-Van and Sportvan. New this year in both the Sportvan and Chevy-Van is a 3-speed automatic transmission, optionally available with all engines. Front bucket seats are redesigned for more comfort, and trim styling is new on standard and optional seats.

For the first time, an air conditioning system is available for the two top Sportvan models. A high-capacity body-integrated unit, it has a roof-mounted condenser ad full-length ceiling duct with adjustable outlets to front and rear compartments.

MEDIUM—DUTY LINE

New for most 2-ton models with 366 or 427 V8 engines is an integral charging system combinging a generator and miniaturized integrated circuit voltage regulator into one compact unit. Voltage settings remain precise because moving parts and contacts have been eliminated.

An important new option is an emergency stopping and parking brake system for 2-ton models equippped with air brakes. It starts to function when air pressure in the system falls below 60 PSI and automatically applies the brakes for an emergency stop when pressure drops to about 30 PSI. A manual control valve in the cab is used to set the air brakes for parking. Also available as a new option is a dual brake system for most chassis-cab models with vacuum-hydraulic brakes.

Other improvements include tighter cab door sealing, more convenient location of instrument controls, and new design foam seatbacks for increased comfort. New front clearance and identification lamps of inverted bowl lens design provide full 360 degree visibility for greater safety.

HEAVY—DUTY LINE

The power lineup in the Chevrolet heavy-duty series for 1969 consists of one diesel and four gasoline engines. In addition to the standard 366 in the 2-ton heavy-duty series, a 260 hp. 427 V8 is optiona. The 3-ton series is exclusively gasoline engine powered, with a 237 hp. 401 V6 standard and 254 hp. 478 V6 optional. All 2-1/2-ton models are equipped with the 318 cu. in. 6V-53 diesel, rated at 195 hp.

The heavy-duty 2-ton line shares many of the improvements made in the light or medium lines. They include the optional dual vacuum-hydraulic brake and emergency air brake systems, more convenient instrument controls, new foam seatback design, better cab sealing, brighter cab interiors, and full visibility front identification and clearance lamps.

In 3-ton models new all vinyl and custom cloth-vinyl seat trims are color keyed to the instrument panel. The standard driver's seat and all optional driver and auxiliary seats in the 2-1/2- ton models are new black vinyl. In both 2-1/2- and 3-ton lines, instrument cluster and heater control panels have wood-grain trim and bright bezels for instruments.

Congress first gave Labor Day its stamp of approval in 1894, when it legalized observances in the Territories and the District of Columbia.

Birds Outlast Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Phil Gagliano has the answer to baseball's perplexing problem of the vanishing .300 hitter.

Forget about making the gloves smaller, moving back the pitcher's mound, or shrinking the strike zone. Just bring the infield in for a play at the plate.

Make it a play at the plate in the 11th inning and give the pitcher a strike two count on the higher. Then Gagliano will show you what he means. He demonstrated the theory Sunday and its practical application helped the Cardinals to a 3-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants, ending a Cardinal four-game tailspin.

It also reduced the Cardinals' National League pennant-clinching number to seven games. Any combination of Cardinal victorie or Giant losses totaling seven and St. Louis can prepare to host its second straight World Series.

But back to Gagliano's thesis.

"They say a .220 hitter becomes a .320 hitter when the infield is in," Gagliano lectured. "The infield, or course, was in. I didn't hit the ball well; but even though he challenged me with a fastball on an 0-2 count, I wasn't going to let him strike me out."

'He was Frank Linzy, 8-8, whose pitch Gagliano didn't hit well. The infield was in because Dal Maxvill was on third and Lou Brock onfirst with one out and the score tied 2-2. Gagliano pinch hit for Joe Hoerner and didn't hit the pitch well. But he hit it to left for a ground single that scored Maxvill.

The score was tied because Willie Mays made a two-base error and pitcher Bob Gibson was used as a pinch runner. The Giants had gone ahead 2-1 on Dick Dietz' single.

Then Mays misjudged pinch hitter Roger Maris' leadoff fly ball in the ninth. Mays got to it and made a jumping grab but couldn't hold on.

Gibson ran for Maris and went to third on a fly ball. Pinch hitter Johnny Edwards then drove him in with the tying run on a sacrifice fly.

It was Mays who had helped the Giants tie the score inthe fifth inning. Orlando Cepeda put the Cardinals ahead by blasting his 15th homer of the season in the fourth off Giant starter Mike McCormick.

With rain pouring down as the fifth began St. Louis starter Nelson Briles just tried to throw strikes to get the inning in and make it an official game. But with two out he threw a strike that Dietz' bounced off the wall in left for a triple. Mays came up with a pinch hit single to tie it.

Briles was back pitching after an hour's rain delay. He had good reason.

"I was really selfish out there. I wanted to win badly so I can win 20," Briles said. He has 17 victories so far. "Now my back is really against the wall. I hope I pitch as well in my last three starts as I did today."

Joe Hoerner came in to hold the Giants scoreless the last two innings. And if Briles is still working on his 20-victory season, Hoerner has his--sort of.

It was Hoerner's eighth victory. He also has 12 saves. Hoerner wanted a hand in 20 Cardinal victories. His 20th was a big one for the Cardinals.

The Giants had taken the first three games of the series and reduced the Cardinals' lead to a still-substantial 10½ games. But as Orlando Cepeda explained, mentally. It was a big game, because if the Giants had taken it as Orlando Cepeda explained, "winning this one relieved us mentally. It was a big game, because if the Giants had taken it that would have kept their momentum going."

The Los Angeles Dodgers start a three-game series tonight with Don Sutton (7-14) going against Larry Jaster (9-11).

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. AP - Chester Good, an 8-year-old bay stallion, knocked almost two seconds off his world trotting record Sunday in winning a heat in a race of the American Shetland Pony Club National Sweepstakes.

His time for the half mile at saratoga Raceway as 1:23 1-5, topping his previous mark of 1:25 set two years ago.

MONTREAL AP - Phelodie, owned by J. Frowde Seagram of Waterloo, Ont., won the $32,385 Quebec Derby, a race restricted to Canadian-foaled 3-year-olds run at Blue Bonnets Raceway Sunday.

Veteran jockey Hugo Dittfach kept Phelodie well off the race in the early running of the 1 4-mile test and then booted his colt home on the outside to win by a length over Big Blunder, the 4-to-5 favorite.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad AP - Geoffrey Ferreira, Trinidad's lone swimmer for the Olympics, established two national records Sunday on the final day of a three-day swimming meet.

Ferreira won the 400-yard freestyle for 15 and over in 4:18.6. His other record came in the 200-yard freestyle, his 1:56.3 bettering his own mark by one fifth of a second.

Mizzou Moves In Skywriters Big Eight Poll

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri and Nebraska picked up ground, but Oklahoma retained its role as the championship favorite in a poll of newsmen making the sixth annual Skywriters tour.

Kansas fell from third to fourth and Missouri moved from fourth to third, otherwise the poll of 28 touring newsmen put the teams in the same order as a mid-July ballot conducted by the Kansas sports publicist, Jay Simon.

It is a dubous honor for Oklahoma's defending champions, because the Skywriters have been right only twice before, 1965 and 1966 when Nebraska won the title both years.

Oklahoma had a winning total of 43½ points in the poll conducted Saturday, while Nebraska had 57, Missouri 89½, Kansas 101, Colorado 137½, Oklahoma State 165½, Kansas State 190 and Iowa State 223.

In first place votes, it was Oklahoma 17 and one tie, Nebraska nine and one tie, and Colorado one.

In July, 157 voters gave Oklahoma 222, Nebraska 461 and Kansas a close third at 485, with OU getting 116 first place votes to 14 for Kansas and 13 for Nebraska.

Missouri was voted the team which altered the thinking of the touring newsmen the most, 11-5 over K-State.

The top sophomore lineman was Ken Davis of Oklahoma with 11, while Nip Weisenfels of Missouri had four and one tie and Guy Ingles of Nebraska four. Don Autry and John Riggins of Kansas tied with seven votes each for top sophomore back, while Marcellous Johnson of Oklahoma had six and Russell Harrison of K-State four.

Meredith's Bomb Explodes In Face

Dallas' Don Meredith tried to bomb out of the National Football League's exhibition season, but Johnny Unitas beat him to it.

Green Bay's Bart Starr, on the other hand, took his good old time and that was fast enough to get by Cleveland.

Even before Meredith could take aim, Unitas had dropped an 84-yard scoring bomb to John Mackey, and when Meredith tried his fireworks, they exploded in his face and instead set up Baltimore's 16-10 victory last Saturday night.

Starr used fullback Jim Grabowski to pick apart Cleveland's defense along with a few explosions of his own as the Packers trampled the Browns 31-9.

With the real fireworks set for this weekend, six other NFL teams ended their preseason chores last Saturday.

In other all NFL games Philadelphia surprised the New York Giants 21-7 in the afternoon and Washington stopped Pittsburgh 24-17 at night. The New York Jets of the American League beat Detroit of the NFL 9-6 and Miami of the AFL tripped Atlanta of the NFL 19-6, helping the AFL to a 13-10 edge over the NFL in preseason play.

In the AFL, Oakland beat Denver 23-7, and in regular season play, Boston defeated Buffalo 16-7 on Sunday. Houston and Kansas City play tonight.

Unitas hit Mackey with a quick pass on the first play from scrimmage and the rugged tight end ran over tacklers to put Baltimore in front ina bitter struggle between NFL powerhouses.

With Meredith connecting on short passes, the Cowboys came back to tie 10-10, but then he turned to the long bombs which Dallas has used so successfully in the past. This time they got burned.

The Colts intercepted four Meredith passes, two in the final period, and Lou Michaels kicked field goals of 22 and 11 yards. The Cowboys also fumbled away two other drives inside the Baltimore 10 yard line.

"We made enough mistakes for four games," said Cowboys' coach Tom Landry of the nationally televised game in the Cotton Bowl.

Grabowski scored twice on two yard runs and once on an 18-yard pass from Starr, and set up a 13-yard scoring sprint by Donny Anderson before 84,918 fans, the largest crowd in Browns' history. Starr finished with 11 completions in 17 attempts for 164 yards.

Don Cockroft kicked three field goals for Cleveland's points in the second game of the annual doubleheader at Memorial Stadium.

Joe Namath's passes set up a touchdown and a field goal in the first half as the Jets downed the Lions in the first game. Jerry DePoyster booted two field goals for Detroit, which lost two chances inside the 10 on Mel Farr fumbles.

Sonny Jurgensen, in his 1968 debut, shook off his arm miseries and hit on 16 of 26 passes for 211 yards, including two scoring tosses to Charley Taylor in Washington's victory.

Bob Griese's passes set up a touchdown and Jimmy Keyes' second field goal in the final half for Miami. Rookie Dick Anderson ran 28 yards with an intercepted pass for the other score.

Injuries and military duty kept seven Philadelphia regulars out of the game, but the Eagles still overcame a 7-0 deficit

State Highway Commission Sets September 20 For Opening Bids On $26 Million In Highway Work

The Missouri State Highway Commission has issued a call for bids September 20 for an estimated $26,000,000 in highway construction and improvements covering 111½ miles of the state's highways in 17 counties and the cities of St. Joseph and St. Charles.

MAKE HOUSEWORK 60% EASIER THIS SUMMER WITH A MUDROOM

What's a mudroom? It's a room that traps dirt before it gets into the rest of the house by controlling the traffic pattern. According to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau it should have at least a sink with hot and cold water and room to clean muddy boots and hang damp clothes.

It becomes even more convenient if you include a water closet and shower, and a work counter for arranging flowers or cleaning vegetables fresh from the garden.

Keeping house becomes 60 percent easier when you have a mudroom, the Bureau notes. That's probably why homemaker surveys consistently put this facility near the top of their most-wanted items.

Each year, 44 whooping cranes migrate 2,500 miles from Canada to Texas in the fall and back again in the spring. Carefully guarded now, these graceful white birds with long, thin, black legs and black-tipped wings have been close to extinction. In 1939, The World Almanac says, they numbered as few as 14.

CHICAGO—To say that deification of blackness has become a Democratic religion, that flattery of high-visibity pigmentation has become ritualistic, that fear of ethnic-stirred violence has become a party discipline, that there has come a bowing-and-scraping by the partisan palefaces before the altars of Baal—none of this would be an exaggeration. All of it would be eye-witness, ear-witness and allowable interpretation of a scene spread before the reporters of the 35th Democratic onvention.

"If George Wallace looks like having a chance in November, he'll get my vote and a lot of others," said the cab driver. It might have passed as a pointless remark except that Chicago under Mayor Richard Daley is an accurate microcosm of what America would be under George Wallace - a place made as safe-and-sane as any police state can be.

This would be an over-much observation if given as a cover-all generalization. But to say that this convention could not have taken place save that federal troops actually outnumbered the delegates, and that no candidate for the American presidency can hope to live without a human shield of public and private guards, and that the authorities dealt with a situation where the flags of a foreign enemy—the ensigns of the Viet Cong—were insultantly flaunted, and that arbitrary dictatorship in this city was nose-to-nose with absolute anarchy—none of this is hyperbole. All of it was fact in Chicago.

And all of it says as clearly to the closet-philosopher as it does to the cab driver that the Democrats couldn't have done more for George Wallace if they had just gone crazy and nominated him.

If the Democrats have any chance whatever to beat Nixon, it will only be because their convention put up a stage-setting for Wallace. To be sure, Chicago was not the mob-scene that it appeared to be at its melodramatic peak.

PROBLEM PERSPIRATION SOLVED
—even for thousands who perspire heavily
A new-type formula has been found to keep underarms absolutely dry—even for thousands who perspire heavily.
After decades of common "deodorants," it took a chemical invention to make this truly effective protection possible—with the same safety to clothing—the same skin mildness as popular "deodorants." Called Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, it is the product of a trustworthy 55-year-old laboratory. By the thousands, women with problem perspiration are finding the protection they need—and never could find before. And fully effective as a deodorant, too, of course.
If you perspire more than average—even heavily—get the positive protection of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. Liquid—smoothes on thru satin. Or Cream—vanishing, non-sticky. Each $3.00.
BOTH HAVE MONEY BACK GUARANTEE—If you are not entirely satisfied with Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, liquid or cream, return package to the store where you bought it. Stores are authorized to refund full cash price.

GEORGE WALLACE CANDIDACY CERTIFIED FOR STATE BALLOT

JEFFERSON City, Mo, - Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick has certified the placing of George C. Wallace's name on the Missouri ballot in November for election to the U.S. Presidency.

The American Independent Party presented petitions containing 61,000 names to Kirkpatrick several weeks ago. The Secretary's office explained that to be placed on the Missouri ballot, a third party candidate must gain the signatures of either one per cent of the voters in any 10 Congressional districts or two per cent in any five districts. The 61,000 names submitted were over three times as many names as were needed.

The American Independent Party was formed this year with Wallace's announcement that he would seek the Presidency through a third party. The party's emblem is an American Eagle holding a banner upon which is inscribed "Stand Up for America".

After the Wallace petitions were presented to the Secretary of State's office, they had to be checked for any irregularities which would cut down on the number of legal signatures or possibly void the petition. Since it would be physically impossible to check every name, techniques are used such as making sure the names on a page were not all the same handwriting. Pages were also selected at random and sent to voter registration boards for verification.

The 61,000 petition signers, if they all voted for Wallace in the general election, could have an important bearing in the Missouri general election as they would be equal to about seven per cent of the voters who participated in the recent primary. And, in this age of facts and figures, that seven per cent could be the difference in winning or losing to any of the three parties on the ballot.

Before 1953, political parties were allowed to appear on the ballot merely by filing a certificate of nomination with the Secretary of State's office. The 1952 presidential ballot listed eight parties in Missouri, with the six minor parties getting only 2800 of the 1,900,000 votes cast in Missouri. According to the Missouri Blue Book, this will be the first time in 16 years that a third party has appeared on the ballot, in accordance with the petition law.

STATE FAIR BREAKS ATTENDANCE RECORDS

Officials of the Missouri State Fair were starting to think that this would be an off year. Attendance figures were really not that bad, but it appeared that the attendance record set last year would go unbroken. However, it was discovered that season ticketholders were not being counted in the daily attendance figures, and when they were, a new attendance record had been set -- 322,238 for the week-long event.

The record crowd drawn to "Showcase '68" was greeted with lots of fine weather, free top entertainment and an expanded exhibit area. Visitors were pampered in a new grandstand and concession stands, and used the camping facilities recently setup to lure guests who would stay more than just for the day.

Even the livestock exhibits showed a gain in participation and for the first time had participants from 10 foreign nations.

The Missiouri State Fair now enjoys prominence as one of the best fairs in the nation and, if Missiourians and out-of-staters continue to come each year in record-breaking numbers, will easily be one of the biggest.

White House

The President's house in Washington was painted white to hide the marks of fire on the walls, which were all that remained standing after the British had fired it in the War of 1812. The name White House for the building dates from this era.

The Editor
Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Editor:

Several times this year we have had called to our attention the fine Right To Work articles your paper has printed. Members of our State-wide Organization have noted your paper has printed many of our news releases, and have sent us copies of our scrap book.

We sincerely appreciate the exposure in your newspaper. If we are to succeed in obtaining a Freedom of Choice Law for all Missourians, we must conduct an extensive compaign to bring the true facts before all voters. The coverage in the Sikeston Standard has been a positive benefit to our organization.

In view of the Democratic Platform pledge to "repeal open shop laws" - we feel 1968 will be a major effort on our part to keep the public informed on Right To Work progress. We would appreciate your continued informativefeatures, in the Standard.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

PAUL FLOWERS
GREEN HOUSE

It was 1755 or 1756-more than 60 years before Memphis was to find its identity on the Fourth Chickasaw Bluffs — a strange flotilla eased to the foot of the loess promontory and a colony of displaced persons came ashore to replenish their water supply, hunt game for food, and possibly trade with Indians and settlers.

In the party was Evangeline, the bride, subject of Longfellow's famous poem about the evicted 6,000 Acadians who refused to renounce their allegiance to France and become British subjects in Nova Scotia.

Longfellow's version goes on to tell how the bridegroom, Gabriel Lajeunnesse, was taken to Louisiana while his bride, Evangeline Bellefontaine was left in New England; she followed in a vain search for her husband, and finally found her beloved dying in an almshouse where she was serving as a Sister of Mercy.

There is considerable speculation about the place of the actual reunion; at St. Martinville, La., her grave is supposed to be under the Evangeline Oak, one of the most famous trees in the country.

There is strong historical evidence that the Acadians, exiled from Nova Scotia homes, voyaged down the Atlantic Coast to the Chesapeake Bay area, where they came ashore and started overland across the maountains, and built boats on upper tributaries of the Tennessee River, floating down the Tennessee and the Ohio into the Mississippi, thence on to Louisiana where they established their new Acadia and a language, folkways and culture still charming.

There is plenty of evidence that they paused on the site of what now is Chattanooga, and the presumption is strong that they must have tied up along these bluffs, somewhere between what is now Shelby Forest and the foot of the bluffs below Riverside Park.

When the Memphis Centennial Commission makes its list of notables who have paused on these bluffs, they should give special attention to Evangeline and the Acadians.

Indeed, so many of the greats were here —Alexis de Tocqueville, whose book "Democracy In America" reads like inspired prophecy, paused here to see displaced Indians from Georgia and Florida loaded on flatboats to be ferried across the river and move along their Trail of Tears; here Mark Twain invoked a blessing on the city because Memphis cared when his brother was fatally injured in a steamboat explosion.

Memphians were among the last people to see Meriwether Lewis alive in 1809, when the leader of Jefferson's Lewis & Clark Expedition came ashore from a riverboat, took a horse, and set out toward Washington, to die of gunshot wounds near what is now Hohenwald.

Jefferson Davis lived here; tradition tells that Abraham Lincoln cut firewood in Arkansas opposite Memphis to pay passage on a riverboat from New Orleans.

Probably the most elaborate soiree ever to grace these bluffs was during the visit of Russia's Grand Duke alexis when Mid-South belles danced with the son of a czar in 1872.

The Big Parade can go on and on.

Right to Work

CHICAGO, ILL. -- Using the language of President Kennedy and former Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, executives of the National Right to Work Committee urged the Democratic National Convention's platform committee to adopt a voluntary unionism campaign plank.

Executive Vice President Reed Larson of the Washington-based coalition of employers and employees, including 10,000 union members testified before Panel III in the Amphitheater:

"It is our hope that this platform committee and this Convention will endorse the principle of employee free choice, not only for employees of the federal government as was ennunciated by President Kennedy and endorsed by Secretary Goldberg, but also for all employees both in public and private employment.

S. D. Cadwallader, President of the National Right to Work Committee and a union member for 27 years, told the delegates that under existing conditions compulsory unions deny employment opportunities to minority groups.

"These violations of the political freedom of American citizens must be stopped," Mr. Cadwallader declared.

Testifying at length Mr. Larson said, "We believe it is entirely consistent with the expressed concern for the rights and freedoms of the working man that this great political party should align itself with the worker's freedom to choose for himself membership or non-membership in a private organization -- a labor union."

Mr. Larson said millions of Americans are presently captives of compulsory unionism, "... and the wrong is compounded by the fact that much of the exacted tribute is spent on politics ... those very public officials whose campaigns are supported by forced union dues often use their offices to perpetuate the system of compulsory unionism under which they derive forced campaign support from unwilling workers. It is hard to conceive a more odious conflict of interest."

Mr. Larson told the platform committee that proposed legislation featuring the language of President Kennedy's 1962 Executive Order 10988 is now pending before Congress with bi-partisan support and is known as the "Federal Employees Freedom of Choice Act."

He quoted President Kennedy's Executive Order as stating "Employees of the Federal Government shall have, and shall be protected in the exercise of, the right, freely and without fear of penalty or reprisal, to form, join and assist any employee organization or to refrain from such activity."

No Push-ups for Privates

New Exercise Program Tested

FORT POLK, La. (ANF) — Privates in a basic combat training company here don't do push-ups.

But these newcomers to the U.S. Army are not missing out on their physical training. Instead of some of the normal Army exercises such as push-ups, sit-ups and deep-knee bends, the trainees are using modern exercises designed to keep astronauts physically fit.

Pilot Program

In a pilot program, E Company, 3d Battalion, 1st Basic Combat Training Brigade, is testing for military use exercises originally developed for physical conditioning in the confines of a space capsule. The exercises are performed with the aid of a small mechanical device.

The device operates on the principle of resistance caused by the friction of a braided rope being drawn around a shaft—similar to a half-hitch. It can be adjusted from negligible resistance to a pull greater than the strength of a normal man and can be mounted inside or outside, or, for some exercises, held with the feet.

12 Exercises

In the experimental program, the 6-inch-by-2½-inch device, with accompanying hand-hold lines and trail lines, is used in 12 exercises. Most of the exercises begin with a 10-second isometric hold and conclude with a 12-second isotonic movement.

The isometric phase places muscle pressure against an immovable weight and the isotonic phase matches movement of muscles against a pre-set movable weight. The combination of these two exercising principles develops strength, endurance and body flexibility at the same time.

Conventional Training Replaced

These exercises replace about three-fourths of conventional physical training in the new program. Still in use are the mile run, the horizontal ladder and other activities that keep hands and feet tough, a benefit not found in the new exercise program.

Training officers say the trainees have been enthusiastic about the new exercise program. The officers feel the exercises have a distinct psychological advantage over other forms of physical training.

Privates Larry M. Uhle (left) of Los Angeles and Ray K. Trent Jr. of Tulsa, Okla., demonstrate the "military press," one of 12 exercises in a new physical conditioning program being used by a Fort Polk, La., basic training company.

Earlier tests at Fort Polk have indicated that the exercises significantly reduce the amount of time necessary for physical conditioning. In one five-week test, drill sergeant candidates using the new exercises scored higher on the physical combat proficiency test than other candidates who used the regular Army physical training drills. The higher score was achieved even though the group spent only one-third as much time on physical training.

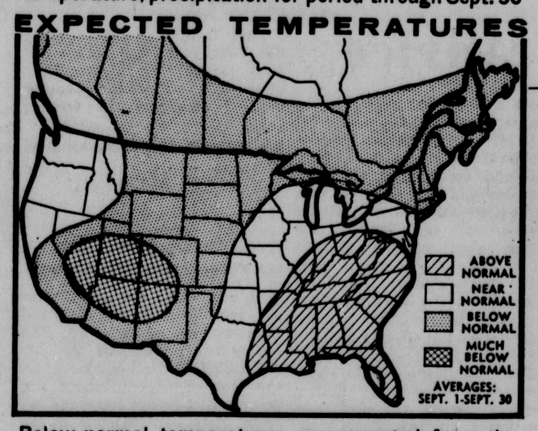
ALL TOGETHER PUSH — 9th Infantry Division engineers move a section of a bridge toward a new crossing site in the Mekong Delta region of Vietnam. The men are from the 15th Engineer Battalion.

FLOATING FOXHOLES—Sgt. H. J. Kim, Korean Augmentation to the U.S. Army (KATUSA), (left) and Pvt. John E. Hawk Jr., guard a sector of the Korean Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) security fence from their raft. The Korean monsoon season presented some problems along portions of the 151-mile DMZ, but the soldiers from Company C, 1st Battalion, 32d Infantry, 7th Infantry Division, used the raft to protect themselves from knee-deep water. Private Hawk is from Uniontown, Pa.

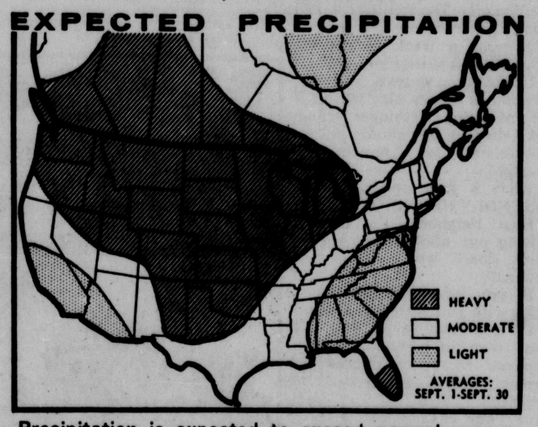
RUSTIC VENICE is the village of Ganvie in the African Republic of Dahomey. The villagers live "on stilts," their homes perched precariously on poles a few feet above the water level. Only means of transportation are the slender, dug-out canoes which the natives paddle along the watery streets.

SUMMER SIGNOFF

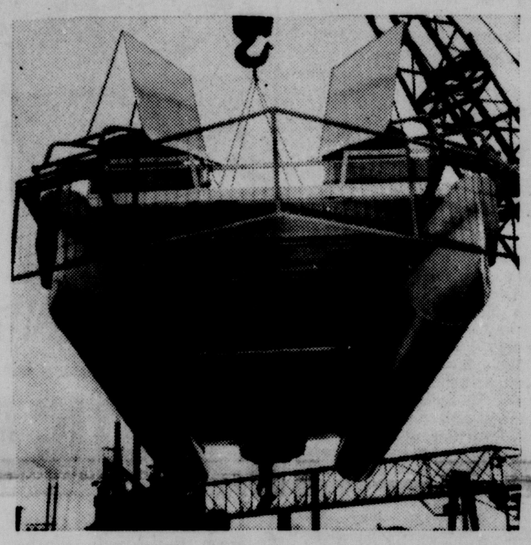
Maps show Weather Bureau's forecast of average temperature, precipitation for period through Sept. 30

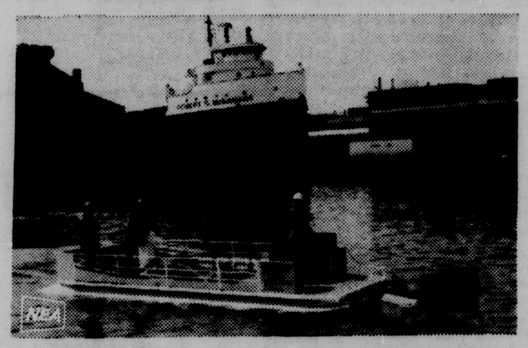


Below-normal temperatures are expected from the northern and central Plains to the Southwest, and also in the northeast part of the nation.



Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over a wide area from the Pacific Northwest through the Rockies to the Great Lakes region.





"SUPER SPONGE," a new oil skimmer, is lowered into the boat slip near Dearborn, Mich., top, where the outboard-powered catamaran went to work soaking up oil with a water-repellent polyurethane foam roller. The boat, which can collect as much as 2,100 gallons of light viscosity oil in an hour, cruises waters around Ford's Rouge industrial area, bottom, adding mobility to the company's pollution-control facilities.

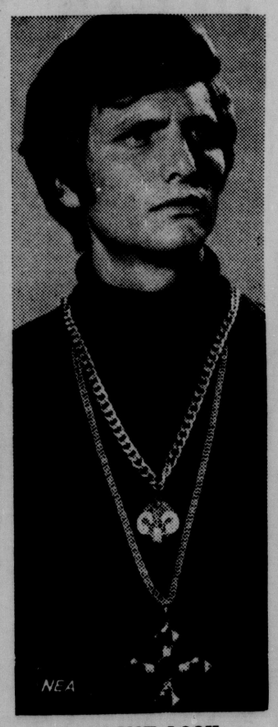
SMALL APPETITE

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Ed Diddle, retired basketball coach at Western Kentucky University, purchased a pie and the baker asked if he wanted it sliced.

"Yes," said Diddle, "cut it in four pieces."

"If you like," the baker continued, "I can cut it in six pieces."

"Nope, I couldn't eat six pieces," Diddle answered.



MASCULINE LOOK, according to award-winning designers Edward Dunne and Calvin Townsand, is embodied in these two pendants. The ram's head (shorter chain) is of inlaid Swarovski jet and crystal on antiqued gunmetal. On a longer chain is a gold-colored Maltese Cross with a large simulated ruby in the center.

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI

Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1½" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutters on Ralph Street from Malone to Betty, in accordance with plans & specifications, in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: SECTION 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. SECTION 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. SECTION 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.80 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. SECTION 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. SECTION 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. SECTION 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 3rd day of September, 1968. Approved: Kendall Sikes Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk. 296-INC. 302

Minimum Charge $1.25; 6 cents A Word First Day; 5 cents A Word Second Day; 4 cents A Word Each Day After, Deadline 5:00 p.m. Day Before Publication. Dear Charles,

On behalf of Sikeston's Council on the Arts, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your co-operation concerning the recent "Missouri Craftsmen's 1968" exhibit.

I would also like to express our sincere appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Clem Beal. Pat White, and the First National Bank for their wonderful reception and hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Garner, of Springfield, Mo., asked me to express their gratitude to these people also, for their assistance and congeonality.

There were approximately 15 areas communities represented at the Reception and Stoneware Pottery Lecture - Demonstration presented by Mr. Garner.

Thank you again for your consistent co-operation in the progress of the Arts.

Sincerely,
Hope Terrell

ARMED FORCES

FAIRFIELD, Calif. -- Robert S. Matthews Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Matthews of 1010 N. Ranney, Sikeston, Mo., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force.

Airman Matthews is an air operations specialist at Travis AFB, Calif. He is a member of the Miliary Airlift Command.

(M0330) GREAT LAKES, ILL. (FHTNC) - Seaman Apprentice Lawrence E. Wilson, USN, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Wilson of Route 3, Dexter, Mo., has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, miliary drill and other subjects.

FT. LEONARD WOOD, MO. (AHTNC) -- Army Private Thomas L. Brack, 21, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O.Brack, and wife, Virginia, live at 107 Kirkendall St., East Prairie, Mo., completed advanced training as a combat engineer August 23 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his eight-weeks of training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance.

He was also trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, and camouflage and demolition.

SHREVEPORT, La. -- Technical Sergeant Phillip W. Bledsoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bledsoe of 409 Rodney, Charleston, Mo., has been graduated from the U. S. Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Barksdale AFB, La.

The sergeant, a first sergeant, received advanced military leadership and management training. He is assigned at Little Rock AFB, Ark., in a unitof the Strategic Air Command.

Sergeant Bledsoe is a graduate of St. Henrys High School.

Dear Editor:

I asked several people what they thought about busing rich people to Washington to get a balance of assemblage in camping. After all, why should a poor man have more than a rich man? Didn't Abraham Lincoln say that all men are created equal. Why do things half way? If we're going to have a "mark of the best" totalitarian state, let's have a good one.

You'd be surprised at the answers to this question. Everyone said they'd like to go to Washington and masquerade as rich people. I guess they think it's just a TV show. I also think they are tired of getting up in the morning and going to work.

Sincerely,
George Spriestersbach

Ann Landers

One Complains, One Praises Her Advice

Dear Ann Landers: You keep saying you consult doctors- so why didn't you, before you gave that wrong answer to the man whose wife is in her 17th month of pregnacy? You made it sound as if such a thing is impossible.

Haven't you ever heard of a stone baby? My niece was pregnant for two years. The baby died before birth and turned to stone. If the doctor had known what was happening he could have performed an operation at nine months and saved the baby. As it was, the baby was dead when the doctor took it.

My niece and her husband had to get both a birth certificate and a death certificate. No one in the family had ever heard of such a thing. So before you hand out half-baked advice that could cause trouble between a man and wife why don't you check with somebody who knows something ----- O. CITY COMPLAINT

Dear Complaint: When the fetus dies before birth, nature usually arranges natural abortion. On rare occasions, the fetus becomes calcified and this stony formation must be taken surgically. The woman who is carrying a fetus that is no longer living is not considered pregnant.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-ager who thinks it is disgracetul the way people write in and call you a miserable witch and a crummy old lady. If they think so little of you why do they write in for advice?

The trouble with a lot of people is they hate to hear the truth. When they ask for your opinion and it turns out they are wrong, they try to get even by saying something insulting.

I think it's time someone wrote you a nice letter. I, for one, appreciate your down-to-earth advice. I think you deserve a lot of credit for reading all that mail and doing your best day after day and year after year. In our household you are like a member of the family. We discuss your column at the dinner table almost every night and it has helped us understand each other better. So thank you, Ann Landers. We think you are as sound as the Liberty Bell. - PITTSBURGH

Dear Pittsburgh: Do you know that the Liberty Bell is cracked? Thank you for your nice letter, anyway. I really do appreciate it.

Dear Ann Landers: The lady next door lost her husband two months ago. The minister is still going to her house at least two afternoons a week to console her. Isn't this a little unusual?

I like the woman and the minister is a very nice person. I am not saying anything is wrong, but I do feel they should not let themselves in for unnecessary gossip.

What is your opinion? -- A FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

Dear Neighbor: I'm all for cutting out unnecessary gossip. Why don't you start with yourself?

If you have trouble getting along with your parents ... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 ¢ in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9;23)

PRAYER: Father, only by the Holy Spirit's presence and power can I accept and carry my cross. Help me. Free me of my sins and shortcomings that I may better serve The this day. Amen.

If You Were the Judge

Conscientious Objector Seeks Right to Vote

THE CASE OF THE PIOUS VOTER
By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Peter was firm in his convictions and, consequently, was convicted of refusing to report for induction. An honest-to-goodness conscientious objector, he threw himself on the mercy of the court and was given a three-year jail sentence for violating the Selective Service Act.

A man of good will, however, Peter bore no ill will against those responsible for his being sent to jail. It was only when he was later denied his right to vote in a national election that Peter became upset with the authorities.

'Sorry," he was told, "but under state law anyone convicted of an infamous crime can't vote." 'I committed no infamous crime," was Peter's pious and patient answer. "I was convicted of refusing to kill fellow human beings for religious reasons. That's not infamous. That's commendable!"

Intent upon voting in the electionPeter took the matter to court. IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit pious Peter to vote in the election?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! In so holding, the judge pointed out that disqualifying a person from voting because he has committed an "infamous crime" was intended to protect the ballot box from morally corrupt and dishonest people. A person who is a bona fide conscientious objector and who has been convicted of refusing to report for induction has not been convicted of an infamous crime.

Poll Rates Johnson's Popularity at Lowest Point

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) - President Johnson's popularity among Americans has hit a record low, according to the Gallup Poll.

A nationwide survey shows that only 35 per cent of those questioned approved of the way the president is performing his job, the poll said Wednesday. Some 52 per cent disapproved.

President Johnson's previous low in popularity was 36 per cent last March, just before he said he was limiting bombing of North Vietnam and would not seek re-election.

Today In U.S. History

Today is Monday, Sept. 9, the 253rd day of 1968. There are 113 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the Second Continental Congress made the term "United States" official. The term previously had been "United Colonies."

On this date:

In 1753, the first steam engine in the American Colonies, imported from England, arrived in New York.

In 1836, Abraham Lincoln was licensed to practice law in Illinois.

In 1850, California was admitted to the Union as the 31st state.

In 1894, Sun Yat-sen led his first attempt at revolution in China.

In 1945, at the end of World War II, the one million Japanese soldiers in China formally surrendered at a ceremony in Nanking.

Also in 1945, U.S. troops landed in South Korea, and the Russians took over the northern half of the country from Japan.

Ten years ago: Moscow was studying a U.S. proposal to study the technical aspects of safeguards against surprise attack.

Five years ago: A federal injunction was issued against Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama after he ordered state police to halt school integration in Birmingham, Tuskegee and Mobile.

One year ago: The Labor Department announced that the nation's employment had reached a record high.

Places Second In Ad Contest

Bernice Cummins, advertising saleswoman for the Daily Standard, won second place for dailies at Columbia Friday in a best idea contest.

Her winning entry was a double-page color ad for Buckner-Ragsdale Company and was carried in the Standard's annual progress edition in February.

The contest was held as part of an advertising workshop at the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri.

First place winner was the Columbia Tribune.

Also attending from the Daily Standard advertising department were Richie Wrather and Phil Nash. The meeting was sponsored by the Missouri Ad Managers Association.

Agreement Reported in N.Y. Teachers' Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A teachers' strike snarled opening day for the 1.1-million-pupil city schools today, but it was reported a settlement was reached that could put most children into classes by Tuesday.

"I feel the strike is settled and all that remains is for the formalities to be settled," said school board member William F. Haddad. He said the schools should be operating normally by Wednesday.

The 53,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers struck over refusal of the local board for a group of mostly Negro Brooklyn schools to reinstate 10 ousted teachers.

The Board of Education said that 90 per cent of the system's 900 schools were closed. Less than 3 per cent of the teachers showed up for work.

An agreement spelling out the powers of the local boards and the central board in hiring and firing teachers reportedly was worked out in negotiations that lasted until early this morning.

The union's executive board was meeting to vote on the proposed agreement. The Board of Education was to act on it later in the day.

Some schools opened and some didn't. Because of the confusion many parents didn't send their children to schools. In many cases, the children who did go found buildings locked. They were kept in the schoolyard under the care of supervisors.

Classes were in session at several groups of schools which are conducting experiments in neighborhood control—including the Ocean Hill-Brownsville district in Brooklyn, which is at the center of the current dispute.

A board spokesman said that most of the major points in the three-way controversy had been agreed upon, but a few details remained to be considered. The UFT had voted overwhelmingly Sunday to strike the schools if the decentralization issues posed in the Ocean HillBrownsville district were not resolved.

Supt. of Schools Bernard E. Donovan said today that "district superintendents have been given authority to close schools where the absence of staff endangers the interest of the children."

Shortly before 8:30 a.m., Donovan said, "Public schools are open today.

'We have been working all night to avert the strike and it is hoped that agreement will be reached today. Teachers are urged to report to their regular positions."

Even as meetings between the various parties in the dispute continued, there were conflicting reports throughout Sunday on whether the schools would open.

Mayor John V. Lindsay said they would. Shanker said they would not.

Items Taken from Three Autos

Thirteen persons were arrested during the weekend and three thefts were reported by Sikeston police.

Bob Lee, 603 Elm, reported to police at 9:40 a.m. Sunday that a stereo tape player and eight tapes valued together at $168 were taken from his daughter's car between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday while it was parked at his residence.

John Donoho Jr., 321 Hardin, reported to police at 12:08 p.m. Sunday that 20 stereo tapes in a black carrying case valued at $140 were taken from his car between 12:30 and 9 a.m. Sunday while the car was parked at his residence.

Claude Byrant, owner of Bryant's Garage, 117 South Handy, reported to police that several items were taken from a car owned by James Taylor, Sikeston. The car was parked at the northeast corner of the garage, police reported. Items taken included a generator, a battery, a fan belt and two radiator hoses.

In other activity, Jerry Lee Light, 30, Poplar Bluff, and Claire E. Light, 35, Poplar Bluff, were each charged at 12:40 a.m. Sunday with peace disturbance for fighting at the Oak Room on South Main. Ola Hastings, a barmaid who attempted to break up the fight, was knocked out and taken to the hospital, where she was treated and released.

Fred L. Nelson, 48, route one, Sikeston, was charged at 5 p.m. Saturday with driving while intoxicated on West Malone, police reported.

Charles W. Meyer, 18, 914 Sikes, was charged by police Saturday with speeding on Ables Road.

Harl F. Hillis, 58, Essex, was charged by police Saturday with improper parking.

Donnie Gale Wright, 18, Bell City, was arrested for investigation at 11:52 p.m. Sunday in an alley behind Graber's Store, 106 East Front.

Richard O. Howell, New Madrid, Juanita Briggs, 121 Sixth, and Charlene Hammock, 306 Heath, were each charged Friday with careless and imprudent driving.

Willie Ray Staggs, 948 Lake, and Gary Burnett, Vanduser, were each charged Saturday with peace disturbance for fighting at the 21 Club on West Malone.

Larry Curtner, Morehouse, was charged by police Friday with driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's license.

Jim Henry Green, Oran, was charged Friday with petit larceny. He is accused of taking a battery and battery cables from Ozburn-Abston Co., 420 North Main, police reported.

Virginia Sherrod, 1413 Henry, an employe of Barkett's Big Star Market, Highway 60 East, reported to police Saturday that her purse containing approximately $20 was taken from under the counter at the store between 8:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday.

Court Refuses Rehearing on Toll Road Case

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - The Missouri Supreme Court today refused to grant a rehearing of the toll road test case. The court held the toll road law was unconstitutional last July.

In declining to reconsider it, the court did make a modification of its earlier decision but the change had no substantive effect on the adverse ruling.

The Toll Road Authority had been sought by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes as a way to open up quickly new areas of Missouri to Commerce, industry and tourism, without waiting for the time when money will be available for free highways.

Last Friday the governor told the State Good Roads and Streets Association Missourians would have to decide whether to change the constitution to allow toll road construction now or suffer the economic and life loss that poor highways produce.

The supreme court had held that the law was invalid because it would have permitted the use of state highway user funds to help pay off the turnpike bonds.

Madrid Airport Dedicated

By H. H. TOWNSEND JR.

MARSTON - An estimated 2,000 persons visited the New Madrid County Airport official dedication Sunday afternoon.

The new facility has a 3,200-foot lighted asphalt runway 60 feet wide and can handle aircraft as large as a DC-3.

Initial stage of construction was a joint county, state and federal project at a cost of $200,000. Next phase of construction will be an administration building, to be completed as soon as funds are appropriated. McMullen Construction Co. of Sikeston was the contractor.

Harry "Cuz" Moreland of Portageville was master of ceremonies for the dedication. The Rev. Bill Reid, pastor of the General Baptist Church of Lilbourn, gave the benediction.

Lennie Whitworth, construction engineer, and W. S. McMullen, contractor, commented on the project, saying that the airport was idealy located and that the terrain was such that enlargement could be made in the future quite easily. The site had been selected by the Federal Aviation Agency as the best available in the area.

Hal Hunter, prosecuting attorney, was principal speaker and gave recognition to Gene Copeland, state representative, Judge J. H. Calvin, Judge O.R. Rhodes, Judge James H. Workman and Baxter Southern for their part in obtaining the new airport and the related Noranda Aluminum complex.

Hunter commented, "This is just the beginning. I expect that in a few years we will see the enlargement of our airport so as to handle jet aircraft."

"With our expanding industry, I see no reason why this area should not become the center for air traffic in the Bootheel."

Crowd pleaser for the day was the airplane rides sponsored by the Boy Scouts and provided by the New Madrid County Pilots Association.

Beginning at noon and stopping only long enough for the dedication ceremonies, the rides continued until dark with long lines of people still waiting when dark came. More than 400 persons were able to take an airplane ride, many for the first time.

Ten per cent of the ride proceeds will go to the Boy Scouts and the balance to the pilots association, which will use the funds for the improvement of the airport.

Some of the pilots of the New Madrid County Pilots Association who provided airplanes were Barry Richardson, Portageville; Joe Bader, Lilbourn; Earnest Wilson, Portageville; Dr. Thomas H. Barnes, Portageville; Earl Walker, Portageville; Carmel Lacewell, Gideon, and Glen Hopwood, Gideon.

Student Increase Noted

School enrollment for the Sikeston R-6 school district will be slightly more than enrollment last year at this time. Present enrollment is 4,657, including all school children from kindergarten through the 12th grade. According to an announcement by Harold Kiehne, director of secondary education.

The addition includes 331 in both Sikeston and Morehouse kindergarten, and 207 pupils in Morehouse Elementary School, grades one through six. The end of September will increase the enrollment slightly over the last year estimate.

The addition of Morehouse added 35 children to kindergarten, 207 in its elementary school and 93 in the Sikeston Junior High School.

Sikeston will have 931 enrolled in junior high, to bring the total to 1,024. The enrollment of Sikeston and Morehouse students by grades for junior high is: sixth grade 315 and 34; seventh grade, 309 and 29; eighth grade, 307 and 30; total 1,024.

Elementary enrollment by schools is: Sikeston kindergarten 296; Morehouse kindergarten 35; Lee Hunter School 488; Matthews School 322; Southeast School (formerly Airport) 488; Southwest School 494, and Morehouse 207. Total is 2,330.

The high school enrollment, from ninth through twelve grade, has 1,264 students, with an additional 39 students in special education, for a total of 1,303.

Soviets Press Czech Regime to Comply With Kremlin Demands

PRAGUE (AP) — Slovak Communist party chief Gustav Husak met today with Soviet trouble shooter Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who is in Prague to accelerate Czechoslovak compliance with Kremlin demands.

Soviet Ambassador S.V. Cervonenko was with Kuznetsov, who is a Soviet first deputy foreign minister. The meeting took place in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, in what an official announcement described as "a frank and comradely atmosphere."

In Communist terminology, "frank" means they disagreed.

Husak is a deputy premier and a member of the Czechoslovak Communist party's ruling Presidium. His speeches have been getting favorable attention in the Moscow press, particularly a statement he made Saturday that Czechoslovakia will have to prevent the flight of more refugees.

The Communist party organ Rude Pravo reported today that Czechoslovakia's heavy industry, the mainstay of the economy, may have to curtail production "for a long time to come" as a result of the Soviet-led occupation by Warsaw Pact troops.

Rude Pravo said that during the first week of the occupation production losses in heavy industry alone amounted to 1,626 million crowns, or $227,640,000.

"In many plants it may be possible to compensate the losses," the paper said, "but the data prove that the smooth flow of production in heavy industry is threatened for a long time to come.

The Soviet Union has given a half promise to compensate Czechoslovakia for all damages caused by the invasion, and a parliamentary committee is compiling a report.

Rude Pravo said failure by Moscow and some of its hardline allies to meet their supply obligations to Czechoslovakia was one of the adverse factors. It said five large export shipments could not be readied on schedule because supplies did not arrive from the Soviet Union, East Germany and Hungary.

At the same time, Rude Pravo added "the trade representatives of these countries insisted on adhering to delivery schedules" by Czechoslovakia in other industrial branches.

Meanwhile, reliable informants reported the country's embattled Communist leaders have agreed to the stationing of Soviet-bloc troops indefinitely along their country's border with West Germany.

These border forces are not among those the Soviet Union has promised to withdraw from occupied Czechoslovakia when the situation "normalizes," the sources said.

Neither Prague nor Moscow has announced the agreement, but sources said it was one of seven concessions in the Moscow accord signed by Czechoslovak and Soviet leaders Aug. 28, a week after the Soviet invasion.

Injured

WYATT—A one-car accident Sunday at 12:15 p.m. on U.S. 60, three miles east of Wyatt, resulted in injuries in a Hot Springs couple.

A car driven by Arthur Smith, 75, Hot Springs, went out of control on a curve, ran down a levee and struck a tree, the highway patrol reported.

Smith received a broken nose, a concussion and cuts on his face.

His wife, Mary Smith, 69, received a broken leg and bruises.

Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston.

Three Injured in Local Accidents

Three persons suffered injuries in two accidents Sunday in Sikeston.

Mrs. Hansel Duncan, 306 East Gladys, is reported in satisfactory condition today in Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where she is recovering from injuries suffered in a three-car accident at 7:02 p.m. yesterday on South Main near Virginia St.

Mrs. Duncan was a passenger in a car driven by Larry E. Duncan, 25, 315 Edmondson. The accident occurred as an automobile driven by Roland C. Smith, 20, 623 Sikes, struck the rear of Duncan's stopped car and forced it to strike the rear of another stopped car driven by Fred Lashmet, , 47, Sikeston, police reported. Smith was charged with careless and imprudent driving by following too closely.

A car driven by Ronnie Crawford, 19, 411 Adams, struck and damaged a whiteway pole on East East Malone near Moore at 6 p.m. Sunday. Crawford and Mike Gilliland, 19, Sikeston a passenger in his car, were treated and released at the hospital for injuries. The accident occurred as Crawford was traveling east on Malone in the right lane. A truck driven by Clyde B. Thatcher, 28, 901 Sikes, also was traveling east in the left (inside) lane. Thatcher cut sharply in front of Crawford when a car in front of him stopped to turn left. , forcing Crawford to hit the pole, police reported. Thatcher was charged with careless and imprudent driving for failure to yield the right of way and destruction of city property.

Aroused by a cracking sound, Harry Chartrau, 515 Lake, was certain something was happening outside, and when he awoke and turned on the light, he discovered a hole in the ceiling, and part of a limb from a giant coffeebean tree protruding through the hole. The crash awakened Chartrau at 11 p.m. His wife and a granddaughter, Kimberley Dickerson, 7, were asleep in an adjoining room and were not injured.

Windstorm damage from a fallen 15-inch trunk of a large coffeebean tree at the home of Harry Chartrau, 515 Lake, damaged half of the roof last night at 11 p.m. The family has lived here for the past eight years. Chartrau is employed as a driver for Valley Steel Products, St. Louis.

U.S. Charged With Blocking Talk Progress

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two American newspapermen said today U.S. negotiators have blocked progress at the Paris peace talks by "dangerous and possibly fatal trimming" of the understanding by which the conference was arranged.

Contending they paved the way for the Paris talks during a visit to Hanoi last March, William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami News, and Harry S. Ashmore, former executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, said in a book released today that North Vietnam stated before the sessions convened that meaningful negotiations could not begin until allied bombing of North Vietnam stopped.

The book, "Mission to Hanoi -a Chronicle of Double-Dealing in High Places," was based on two trips to Hanoi and conferences with U.S. State Department officials in Washington.

Baggs and Ashmore were in Hanoi, engaged in private discussions with a spokesman for President Ho Chi Minh on March 31 when President Johnson announced his decisions to curtail the bombing of North Vietnam and to withdraw from the presidential race.

The two newsmen said they met repeatedly with Ho's representative during the critical period when the Hanoi regime was trying to decide if it would accept the partial bombing halt as a strong enough indication of good faith to warrant a formal meeting with U.S. representatives.

Baggs and Ashmore gave this account of their reaction to the Johnson pronouncement as they expressed it to the North Vietnamese:

'Mr. Johnson had surprised us as much as he had anyone else in Hanoi, we said, but in our view the importance of the announcement could not be overestimated.

'We took it to be Lyndon Johnson's way of certifying the sincerity of this new move toward peace—perhaps the only method left to him to do so in view of the steady erosion of confidence in his pronouncements at home and abroad.

"For a man of the President's temperament and ambition, the decision not to run again had to be taken as an act of political self-immolation. We thought it urgently important that the North Vietnamese take the new offer to negotiate and respond in kind."

The authors said their view of the President's announcement finally prevailed in the inner circles at Hanoi. After it was official that the North Vietnamese were willing to meet with U.S. representatives, Ashmore and Baggs said they entered into detailed discussions with Ho's spokesman on the procedural points of such a conference.

They left Hanoi with an "aide memoire" which they said spelled out the official North Vietnamese response to Johnson's actions.

Baggs and Ashmore said they delivered the document to the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane, Laos, and were asked to return directly to Washington where they met with Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, and Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy.

The newsmen said: "The North Vietnamese position was that agreement to meet under the partial limitation of the bombing constituted a major concession on their part, and they would not consider any further acts of reciprocity until the bombing had stopped—at which point everything was open for consideration, including mutual de-escalation of the fighting in South Vietnam.

'If there was to be bargaining, we said, it would have to be done on the other side of total bombing cessation; then, as we judged it, there was considerable room for maneuver if the United States was now willing to accept some form of coalition government in Saigon embracing the NLF (National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong). This, we reported, was the essence we had distilled out of many hours of direct talk and background probing.

"At this point it seemed as though Gov. Harriman turned off his hearing aid and the others in the room began to gaze at the ceiling ... The gloomy assumption, soon to be borne out by events, was that Harriman, as chief negotiator, was going to proceed on the basis that total bombing cessation was still negotiable, and stand on the old demand for a guarantee of military reciprocity ...

"Our waning optimism went down to zero when Harriman simply rejected our contention that the North Vietnamese had made it quite clear that, while they would make contact while the bombing went on, they would not begin to negotiate seriously until it had been halted."

Rude Pravo said that during the first week of the occupation production losses in heavy industry alone amounted to 1,626 million crowns, or $227,640,000.

"In many plants it may be possible to compensate the losses," the paper said, "but the data prove that the smooth flow of production in heavy industry is threatened for a long time to come.

The Soviet Union has given a half promise to compensate Czechoslovakia for all damages caused by the invasion, and a parliamentary committee is compiling a report.

Rude Pravo said failure by Moscow and some of its hardline allies to meet their supply obligations to Czechoslovakia was one of the adverse factors. It said five large export shipments could not be readied on schedule because supplies did not arrive from the Soviet Union, East Germany and Hungary.

At the same time, Rude Pravo added "the trade representatives of these countries insisted on adhering to delivery schedules" by Czechoslovakia in other industrial branches.

Meanwhile, reliable informants reported the country's embattled Communist leaders have agreed to the stationing of Soviet-bloc troops indefinitely along their country's border with West Germany.

These border forces are not among those the Soviet Union has promised to withdraw from occupied Czechoslovakia when the situation "normalizes," the sources said.

Neither Prague nor Moscow has announced the agreement, but sources said it was one of seven concessions in the Moscow accord signed by Czechoslovak and Soviet leaders Aug. 28, a week after the Soviet invasion.

Student Increase Noted

School enrollment for the Sikeston R-6 school district will be slightly more than enrollment last year at this time. Present enrollment is 4,657, including all school children from kindergarten through the 12th grade. According to an announcement by Harold Kiehne, director of secondary education.

The addition includes 331 in both Sikeston and Morehouse kindergarten, and 207 pupils in Morehouse Elementary School, grades one through six. The end of September will increase the enrollment slightly over the last year estimate.

The addition of Morehouse added 35 children to kindergarten, 207 in its elementary school and 93 in the Sikeston Junior High School.

Sikeston will have 931 enrolled in junior high, to bring the total to 1,024. The enrollment of Sikeston and Morehouse students by grades for junior high is: sixth grade 315 and 34; seventh grade, 309 and 29; eighth grade, 307 and 30; total 1,024.

Elementary enrollment by schools is: Sikeston kindergarten 296; Morehouse kindergarten 35; Lee Hunter School 488; Matthews School 322; Southeast School (formerly Airport) 488; Southwest School 494, and Morehouse 207. Total is 2,330.

The high school enrollment, from ninth through twelve grade, has 1,264 students, with an additional 39 students in special education, for a total of 1,303.

Injured

WYATT—A one-car accident Sunday at 12:15 p.m. on U.S. 60, three miles east of Wyatt, resulted in injuries in a Hot Springs couple.

A car driven by Arthur Smith, 75, Hot Springs, went out of control on a curve, ran down a levee and struck a tree, the highway patrol reported.

Smith received a broken nose, a concussion and cuts on his face.

His wife, Mary Smith, 69, received a broken leg and bruises.

Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston.

Three Injured in Local Accidents

Three persons suffered injuries in two accidents Sunday in Sikeston.

Mrs. Hansel Duncan, 306 East Gladys, is reported in satisfactory condition today in Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where she is recovering from injuries suffered in a three-car accident at 7:02 p.m. yesterday on South Main near Virginia St.

Mrs. Duncan was a passenger in a car driven by Larry E. Duncan, 25, 315 Edmondson. The accident occurred as an automobile driven by Roland C. Smith, 20, 623 Sikes, struck the rear of Duncan's stopped car and forced it to strike the rear of another stopped car driven by Fred Lashmet, , 47, Sikeston, police reported. Smith was charged with careless and imprudent driving by following too closely.

A car driven by Ronnie Crawford, 19, 411 Adams, struck and damaged a whiteway pole on East East Malone near Moore at 6 p.m. Sunday. Crawford and Mike Gilliland, 19, Sikeston a passenger in his car, were treated and released at the hospital for injuries. The accident occurred as Crawford was traveling east on Malone in the right lane. A truck driven by Clyde B. Thatcher, 28, 901 Sikes, also was traveling east in the left (inside) lane. Thatcher cut sharply in front of Crawford when a car in front of him stopped to turn left. , forcing Crawford to hit the pole, police reported. Thatcher was charged with careless and imprudent driving for failure to yield the right of way and destruction of city property.

Aroused by a cracking sound, Harry Chartrau, 515 Lake, was certain something was happening outside, and when he awoke and turned on the light, he discovered a hole in the ceiling, and part of a limb from a giant coffeebean tree protruding through the hole. The crash awakened Chartrau at 11 p.m. His wife and a granddaughter, Kimberley Dickerson, 7, were asleep in an adjoining room and were not injured.

U.S. Charged With Blocking Talk Progress

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two American newspapermen said today U.S. negotiators have blocked progress at the Paris peace talks by "dangerous and possibly fatal trimming" of the understanding by which the conference was arranged.

Contending they paved the way for the Paris talks during a visit to Hanoi last March, William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami News, and Harry S. Ashmore, former executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, said in a book released today that North Vietnam stated before the sessions convened that meaningful negotiations could not begin until allied bombing of North Vietnam stopped.

The book, "Mission to Hanoi - a Chronicle of Double-Dealing in High Places," was based on two trips to Hanoi and conferences with U.S. State Department officials in Washington.

Baggs and Ashmore were in Hanoi, engaged in private discussions with a spokesman for President Ho Chi Minh on March 31 when President Johnson announced his decisions to curtail the bombing of North Vietnam and to withdraw from the presidential race.

The two newsmen said they met repeatedly with Ho's representative during the critical period when the Hanoi regime was trying to decide if it would accept the partial bombing halt as a strong enough indication of good faith to warrant a formal meeting with U.S. representatives.

Baggs and Ashmore gave this account of their reaction to the Johnson pronouncement as they expressed it to the North Vietnamese:

'Mr. Johnson had surprised us as much as he had anyone else in Hanoi, we said, but in our view the importance of the announcement could not be overestimated.

'We took it to be Lyndon Johnson's way of certifying the sincerity of this new move toward peace—perhaps the only method left to him to do so in view of the steady erosion of confidence in his pronouncements at home and abroad.

"For a man of the President's temperament and ambition, the decision not to run again had to be taken as an act of political self-immolation. We thought it urgently important that the North Vietnamese take the new offer to negotiate and respond in kind."

The authors said their view of the President's announcement finally prevailed in the inner circles at Hanoi. After it was official that the North Vietnamese were willing to meet with U.S. representatives, Ashmore and Baggs said they entered into detailed discussions with Ho's spokesman on the procedural points of such a conference.

They left Hanoi with an "aide memoire" which they said spelled out the official North Vietnamese response to Johnson's actions.

Baggs and Ashmore said they delivered the document to the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane, Laos, and were asked to return directly to Washington where they met with Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, and Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy.

The newsmen said: "The North Vietnamese position was that agreement to meet under the partial limitation of the bombing constituted a major concession on their part, and they would not consider any further acts of reciprocity until the bombing had stopped—at which point everything was open for consideration, including mutual de-escalation of the fighting in South Vietnam.

'If there was to be bargaining, we said, it would have to be done on the other side of total bombing cessation; then, as we judged it, there was considerable room for maneuver if the United States was now willing to accept some form of coalition government in Saigon embracing the NLF (National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong). This, we reported, was the essence we had distilled out of many hours of direct talk and background probing.

"At this point it seemed as though Gov. Harriman turned off his hearing aid and the others in the room began to gaze at the ceiling ... The gloomy assumption, soon to be borne out by events, was that Harriman, as chief negotiator, was going to proceed on the basis that total bombing cessation was still negotiable, and stand on the old demand for a guarantee of military reciprocity ...

"Our waning optimism went down to zero when Harriman simply rejected our contention that the North Vietnamese had made it quite clear that, while they would make contact while the bombing went on, they would not begin to negotiate seriously until it had been halted."

Windstorm damage from a fallen 15-inch trunk of a large coffeebean tree at the home of Harry Chartrau, 515 Lake, damaged half of the roof last night at 11 p.m. The family has lived here for the past eight years. Chartrau is employed as a driver for Valley Steel Products, St. Louis.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

EDGE OF AUTUMN

There is a different feeling in the air now that the ninth month's mellowness broods over fields and meadows. Dawns are moist and foggy and one can sense nature's patience as the sun lifts into the sky and the fog lifts from valleys and swales.

September does not hurry; it is a lingering remembrance of summer. It also has the taste of on-coming autumn.

Not yet the blazing bonfires on the hills; not yet the harsh searing of black frosts. Now for a heart-lifting interlude royal colors paint the land. There is the purple of asters and the rich hue of thistles. Ironweed holds bright pennants on stiff stems.

Goldenrod paints pictures along dusty roadsides and brightens corners of upland fields. Along pasture lanes sumacs display maroon candles. Around the edges of swamps, chocolate brown cattail heads blend with sun-cured reeds and grasses. In shadowed woodlands the checkerberries are red jewels beneath waxy leaves.

The voices of autumn are beginning. Blue jays fly across the orchards and bugle to the changing season; friendly chickadees come from summer woodland haunts and explore the old Russet trees behind the woodshed. Crickets fiddle at noon in the aster bed beneath the kitchen window and bumble bees drone from blossom to blossom.

At dawn, at high noon and in mid-afternoon, one knows it is September—the ending of summer and the beginning of a new season in a cycle of time that man cannot control. But it is at dusk when on feels it most definitely.

When a man comes in from evening chores, he stops a minute in the yard. The sky is blazing with stars; a fox barks from the upland ridge. And then the sharp edge of a northwest breeze touches the cheek. It is September—still a remembrance of summer, but the scouts of autumn are here.

Farm Journal magazine makes a point about farming in an editorial in its September issue whose application to other industries needs to be better understood and appreciated.

It discusses the principles to which it hopes presidential candidates will subscribe in order to assure a prosperous agriculture.

One was this:

> In order for agriculture to be strong, farming -- as the nation's biggest business-- must be a money-making enterprise. Nothing less than that is good enough! Farmers must make enough money from their farm earnings to maintain the agriculture plant, enlarge their farms, buy new machinery, adopt new techniques, conserve the soil for the future - and provide a decent life for their families. Farming should attract the young and challenge our best talent to stay in farm communities.

The American people and the political parties are extremely conscious of the plight of the wage earner, who is buffeted by inflationary forces.

This sympathy is not misplaced. Alone, it is not enough.

There is no corresponding acknowledgement of the need for industry to meet higher costs, to modernize plant and to automate in order to promote efficiency, reduce costs, to make a decent profit to provide the funds to accomplish all of these desirable things and to enable it to meet foreign competition.

Farming is caught up in this same apathy.

The average city dweller couldn't care less if cheap food comes from an impoverished farming industry.

The steel companies are a prime example of this monumental public indifference.

For many years steel profits have been squeezed badly.

Why?

Because people are indifferent and because those at the helm of national government have encouraged inflationary wage settlements for steel workers while hammering down steel profits to the minimum.

The industry needs more money to modernize plant, to automate, to compete with severe foreign competition and with other metals and substances -- aluminum, plastic, glass and paper to name but a few.

A healthy profit level for all American industry is in the national interest. It promotes more employment and helps the very people, who are the most indifferent and who tend to think only of their own immediate, selfish pocketbook interest.

IOWA'S MESSAGE TO MISSOURI

Gov. Hughes of Iowa, having abandoned his favorite-son role at the Democratic national convention, has now come out for Senator McCarthy, and is likely to carry a majority of his state's delegates with him. We trust the message will not be lost on Gov. Hearnes and the rest of the Missouri delegation. The message is that if public opinion has swung so sharply away from Vice President Humphrey in a key farm state next door to our own, the Missouri delegation might be wise to review its position.

Gov. Hearnes abandoned his own favorite-son intentions some time ago, and says he does not favor imposition of the unit rule on his delegation at Chicago. Yet he is reported to be using Mr. Humphrey. If he and other party leaders put on enough heat, they could conceivably deliver to the Vice President so many of the Missouri votes that it would not matter whether a unit rule were imposed or not. But is this really what they want to do?

More and more, the idea seems to be percolating among convention delegates that Senator McCarthy would be a stronger candidate against Mr. Nixon in November than Mr. Humphrey— especially in the suburbs, especially in the farm belt. There are straws in the wind right here in Missouri. For example, one Missouri delegate, Frank Ferrill of Sikeston, asked citizens of the 10th district late in July to express their preferences, and according to United Press International received what he called an overwhelming response in favor of Senator McCarthy's nomination. If Southeast Missouri feels that way, what about the rest of the state?

There is, of course, no legal obligation for delegates to heed the wishes of their constituents. They are free to vote their own judgment, and should indeed make up their own minds. But in doing so they ought to be free of pressure from the party leadership to vote the leadership's convictions rather than their own; and if they are wise they will take into account what the trend of public opinion means in terms of the November election.

Gov. Hughes of Iowa is running for United States Senator, and his support of Senator McCarthy is a clear expression of his conclusion that a Democratic ticket headed by the Senator would be the strongest the party could field in Iowa. Along with the powerful McCarthy movement in Wisconsin, and the shift of Kennedy supporters toward McCarthy now under way, this raises the distinct possibility that a McCarthy ticket could make inroads into supposedly Nixon territory in the Middle West in November, whereas a Humphrey ticket might not.

The importance of this possibility is that if Mr. Nixon runs as well as he did in 1960 in the South, the Middle West and West, he can hope to win an electoral college majority by carrying only one of the "big five" northern metropolitan states (New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois). If, however, he can be denied the votes of, say, Iowa and Wisconsin, which happen to be the two farm states which Truman carried to everyone's surprise in 1948, then Mr. Nixon's task would be much more difficult.

The Missouri delegates ought to think it all over, very carefully.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans now gulp 30 pounds of aspirin every minute around the clock—more than 21½ tons daily—to cure headaches and calm jittery nerves. Is all that worry really worthwhile?

The United States now has more than 100 million telephones or one for every two persons. This is nearly half of all the telephones in the world. What would it sound like if, at a given moment, all the telephones ecerywhere rang at once?

Speeding costs money as well as increasing the possibility of accidents. Checks show that a car that gets 20 miles a gallon at 40 miles an hour gets only 12 miles a gallon at 80.

Time has outdated the idea that women must choose between matrimony and a career. Some 15 million U.S. married women now hold jobs outside the home.

Looking for an interesting new hobby? Why not take up dendrochronology, the science of dating past events by the growth rings of dead and living trees? The idea of using trees as calendars of history goes back to Leonardo da Vinci, the Italian universal genius of the 15th and 16th centuries.

Our cat-and-dog lovers now spend $1.5 million a day for pet foods, double the amount spent for prepared baby foods. It's nice we don't keep elephants instead of watchdogs. An elephant can munch 800 pounds of fodder between dawn and dusk.

Quotable notables: "The fear of ridicule causes our worst cowardice."—Andre Gide.

No bull: If you get bored with all the sophisticated chatter at a cocktail party, you can break it up by standing on a chair and asking how many guests know whether a cow's ears are in front or behind its horns. Just to keep you from tossing restlessly tonight yourself, the answer is —behind the horns.

Geographical oddities: Long before paleface politicians pitched their marble tepees in Washington, D.C., the Algonquin Indians gave an apt name to the Potomac river. Potomac means "trading place."

Sh-h-h-h: Medical science has found that too much noise can make you ill physically as well as tire you mentally. It is estimated that more than six million Americans work in areas so noisy they are a health hazard.

FROM TRAGEDY--- CHANCE FOR US

"I was surprised at the way the police treated me the morning I was arrested. I expected much, much worse. I talked to one of them for about an hour...

"I found out we had a lot of things in common. I mean, he knew all about how life is a struggle for food and shelter and other things. When we left he said good night and wished me good luck."

Speaking from his prison cell in his first interview since his arrest was Fred (Ahmed) Evans, accused leader of black guerrillas who gunned down three policemen and seven civilians in the ambush in Cleveland's largely Negro Glenville area.

Among the latter was one James Cahpman, who was felled by the snipers while attempting to aid police Lt. Leroy Jones, who was also killed. Chapman was a Negro.

In the midst of her grief, the widon of Jones was able to say of him, "It was a wonderful thing he did. My heart bleeds for this man and his family. I hope this act by Mr. Chapman makes the bond closer, draws more compassion between whites and Negroes...I would hate to think my husband died for nothing."

At the time she spoke, Mrs. Jones had received more than 100 letters of sympathy from Clevelanders, including residents of Glenville.

What a tragedy that only after any chance of making a useful contribution to society is ended for Evans, he and a white policeman discover they have a lot of things in common. What a tragedy that it takes a senseless orgy of killing to demonstrate that human compassion knows nothing of skin color.

Have we not learned enough from violence, and may we not now go forward-not as white Americans and black Americans but, as Robert Kennedy once pleaded, simply as brothers and countrymen again?

I DON'T care!" Four times within a week the writer heard those words. The very expresson, so commonplace in our conversation, is frightening.

First, they were spoken by a child selfishly demanding a better dress than her plainly-garbed mother could obviously afford. To every explanation, the child's answer was, "I don't care; this is what I want."

Next, it was a parent summoned before the police magistrate for the misbehavior of a son. Asked whether he knew his boy's associates, he retorted, "I don't care who they are"

Then it was a husband confronted with divorce proceedings; and, lastly, a 27-year-old man facing the penitentiary for armed robbery. By willful deed, as well as by word, each of these was intent upon breeding heartache and disaster.

How often do we say, "I don't care," when some detail in our work demands closer attention than we have been giving it; or some responsiblity in our home tries our patience. They are tragic words too lightly spoken, too quickly fatal.

There is a few things our lawmakers office holders and officeseekers refuse to even mention in their quest for dictatorship. Among them is the dodge of the Probate Court by corporations, the price of flour in relation to the price of wheat, the un Godly saleries, without the consent of the people who have to pay, all boiled down taxation without representation that makes John Bull's dealings with our Forefathers look like a benevolent rich Uncle and to cap it all off, everbody knows it's true and that we have laws on the books to remedy these injustice but nothing has been done about it so far, looks like both old parties are headed for the ask can and will be replaced by one party, and U name it.

It's comparable to a steam boiler without a pop value and the steam guage covered with a dark cloth, if you keep pouring on the fuel you are gonna have an explosion, and to cap the climax it seems like even when the people elect our most honored respected and reliable men when they get into the drivers seat they start pouring on the fuel with a Vim and vigor, not even looking an inch before their nose.

This all may seem to be poppy--- now, but unless there is an about face and soon, those living will see the point.

H.L. Hunt Says

'THREE IN ONE" CONCEPT

It is clear that the matter of restoring and maintaining law and order in the United States will be one of principal concern in this year's presidential campaign. That is fitting and necessary.

No candidate is likely to come out openly against law and order. But it may well be noted that some persons are trying to confuse this clear-cut issue by claiming that law and order are forgetting about justice. They would have the people believe that the three concepts--law, order, justice--are separate and distinct entities. They imply that the maintenance of law and order may result in injustice being done to various groups.

The three concepts are in fact so related that the speaking of law and order usually carries the assumption of justice. The purpose of enacting a law is to insure justice. Some laws may turn out not to have this effect, and in that case they can be repealed. But in the course of normal events justice is a natural consequence of law and order.

The question arises as to what objective is in the minds of those who willfully try to confuse the issues involved in this subject. We have to wonder if they truly favor for all Americans the kind of justice that can be obtained only if law and order prevail in our nation. If they are using doubletalk to advance certain purposes which they do not wish to speak freely about, the people should be informed as to their actual purpose.HLH

By Drew Pearson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: FBI reports NCB "bugged" Demo platform committee; Network claims mike was unconnected, nothing overheard; House reforms stymied by committee perennials.

WASHINGTON--In a confidential report to attorney general Ramsey Clark, the FBI has identified the culprit in the famous "bugging" incident at the Democratic convention as NBC.

A hidden mike was found in the hotel room where the platform committee was holding its secret deliberations. The wire was traced to an NBC outlet two floors above.

NBC explained to the FBI that produced Enid Roth had thought the meeting would be open and had ordered not only the mike but also cameras and lights for the room. She learned the meeting was closed, according to NBC, too late to withdraw the mike.

Miss Roth at first denied to the FBI that the mike belonged to NBC, but later changed her story, explaining that she had panicked. The FBI report claimed the mike was discovered under a sofa pillow. NBC said it had been taped to a window sill but admitted it had been concealed behind a curtain.

While the mike was in the room, by an interesting coincidence the communications plank happened to come under discussion. This was a matter in which NBC had a vital interest.

A rough draft of the platform had already been written before the committee assembled behind closed doors. On the subject of television, this merely stated: "The mas media need a broad base of economic support consistent with their obligation to serve the public. To this end, we have supported educational television."

TV VIOLENCE DEPLORED

When this was brought up, Vice President Humphrey's representatives called for a stronger stand in favor of "continuing support for the prompt enactment of a long-range financing plan that will help ensure the vigor and independence of (educational television."

The Humphrey forces also demanded a plank, that was later adopted, declaring: "We deplore the all too frequent practice of exploiting violence in television programming and urge the federal communications commission, through the use of its power to revoke and renew broadcast licenses, to end this practice."

NBC has denied that its concealed mike picked up the confidential discussion of TV violence or any other conversations. An NBC spokesman told this column that the mike was not connected to a recorder or speaker and, therefore, that nothing was overheard.

"Any NBC employee who is caught eavesdropping will be fired," added the spokesman.

NOTE: The national association for better broadcasting has just released the results of a survey which shows that the television networks are still featuring blood and brutality on the home screen. Frank Orme, NABB executive vice president, has accused the networks of pretending to adhere to a code against excessive violence while they continue to grow fat on profits milked from TV violence.

YOUTH VS. AGE

A classic confrontation between youth and age is developing in the House of Representatives over legislative reforms. Kindly old speaker John McCormack has marked the reforms for a quiet burial. Dynamic, young Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill., is determined to dig them up.

McCormack is fronting for the committee chairmen, who hold the real power on capitol Hill. They are inclined to run their committees like feudal baronies.

Most committee chairmen are past the 65-year mandatory retirement age that the majority of private corporations set for their executives. In the Senate, 10 of the 16 chairmen are past 65; six are over 70. The situation is much the same in the House, where eleven of the 20 chairmen are past 65 and seven are past 70. Yet these are the men who are supposed to stimulate our youth, to get America going.

Most chairmen also come from small towns or rural areas. Thus has Congress entrusted the explosive problems of our great cities to men from another time and place.

The flow of legislation is controlled by Senate rules chairman Everett Jordan, 72, of Saxapahaw, N.C., and House rules chairman Wiliam Colmer, 78, of Pascagoula, Miss. Most bills dealing with the cities are processed by Senate labor and welfare chairman Lister Hill, 73, of Montgomery, Ala., and House education and labor chairman Carl Perkins, 55, of Hindman, Ky.

No wonder the people of the ghettos and the youth of the country feel that their cries are ignored and that they must resort to violence to be heard. It will be interesting to see whether Rumsfeld can rally enough young dissidents in the House to overcome the throttlehold of the old chairmen of legislation. To move these old codgers will take an outpouring of mail from home.

LBJ'S MELON

Tight-fisted Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., perhaps in his exuberance over escorting "Miss Watermelon" about Capitol Hill recently, gave away a number of melons shipped in from his congressional district.

Pointing to an immense pile of choice watermelons passman passman invited Dev O'Neill, photographer for the Democratic national committee: "Take you pick."

O'Neill walked off with a big one.

The next morning O'Neill got a frantic phone call from a young lady in Passman's office.

"Do you still have that melon?" she asked.

"Yes," replied the photographer.

"Well, please bring it back," she instructed. "You've got the President's melon!"

Washington, D.C.:--This tortured Democratic National Convention must not go into limbo until it is reported that among the thousands of delegates were friends, allies and couselors of the deadliest Cosa Nostra characters.

True, they were but a handful sprinkled through several delegations. But they pressured and voted, and had the freedom of the floor denied to us newsmen.

Therefore it must be concluded that someone in the security setup of the old Democratic National Committee, now dumped by "the Hump" as the jargon has it, thought that intimates of ex-convict Johnny Dio, convict Jimmy Hoffa, and buddies of such criminals as the St. Louis area's Frank "Buster" Wortman, were far more trustworthy than the newsmen.

Mystery now is: who approved freedom for the friends and counselors of the hoods while tying down reporters and honored guests?

For example, at 8:06 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 28, the night of the presidential nomination, I wandered from the tight newspaper press tables into another part of the press section. A polite uniformed guard asked me to return to my seat.

I refused since there was no sane security reason for not walking up and down the press section. A polite uniformed guard asked me to return to my seat.

I refused since there was no sane security reason for not walking up and down the press aisle. Quietly and politely, the guard said he had his orders.

"We're on especially strict security alert tonight," said the chap, "and it would help if you did sit down."

He made no move. He did not push, above or use his hands. All he would say was that he had his orders.

This was a repetition of what had happened on Tuesday. Then the "orders" were that no newspapers could be brought onto the convention floor. Those were "orders" From whom? Nobody knew.

I checked with Andy Frain, head of the Chicago-based ushers' agency retained to supply 500 men and women for the traffic control inside the amphitheater. Mr. Frain, who runs a union shop, pointed out that he uses mostly young people.

He reported that 150 of his men were at doors, which had to remain open because of fire regulations. Another 175 were on the floor. There were 125 girls, 75 usherettes and 50 hostesses. They were directed by 50 supervisors. All 500 were in uniform.

Mr. Frain said he was not in "security" at all.

"It wasn't until late Saturday (before the opening) that we learned from the Democratic National Comittee that they would install those (credentials-checking) electronic machines. We stayed up until 5 a.m. to train our people and get out mimeographed instructions.

"And do remember that our people were in uniform -- except for about 10 of us, the family and top management, who were in civilian clothes. None of us was deputized."

Who then were the muscle-happy plainclothesmen? Were they Chicago city police? Were they secret service operatives? Were they federal marshals? Were they just overgrown huskies, with no heads, just necks with hair grown over, retained to push us around? If so, hey were not deputized.

They were told to keep their eyes on the New York and California delegations. They were told to watch for hand grenades. They were told to be particularly tough on newsmen. Who told them?

Did the orders come from the convention management? Or from some government agency?

Which now brings us to the official 126-page listing of convention delegates and alternates. I've spent days checking each name. Thousands of them are estimable ladies and gentlemen, governors, legislators, mayors and just plain political folk.

But also on that convention floor were such men as the St. Louis' Pipefitters local 562 assistant business manager, John "Doc" Lawler. He is the front for ex-convict Lawrence Callanan, boss of that local. Both now are under federal indictment for conspiring to violate the Corrupt Practices Act. Both know "Buster" Wortman.

There were Teamsters officials on that floor. Some have wined, dined and run with such men as the New York Mafia chief, Johnny Dio, and Chicago's Joey Glimco, who has been charged by Senate racket-busting witnesses with being one of 19 men influencing Chicago's criminal syndicate. Glimco is a Teamsters official.

On that convention floor were such congressmen as Jimmy Hoffa's friend, Missouri Senator Edward Long and New Jersey Representative Cornelius Gallagher. Both have been charged with suspect relationships by the press for some time now.

Yet all these men were cleared for freedom on the floor But we newsmen and our newspapers were banned. Why? Are we second-class citizens?

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

EDGE OF AUTUMN

There is a different feeling in the air now that the ninth month's mellowness broods over fields and meadows. Dawns are moist and foggy and one can sense nature's patience as the sun lifts into the sky and the fog lifts from valleys and swales.

September does not hurry; it is a lingering remembrance of summer. It also has the taste of on-coming autumn.

Not yet the blazing bonfires on the hills; not yet the harsh searing of black frosts. Now for a heart-lifting interlude royal colors paint the land. There is the purple of asters and the rich hue of thistles. Ironweed holds bright pennants on stiff stems.

Goldenrod paints pictures along dusty roadsides and brightens corners of upland fields. Along pasture lanes sumacs display maroon candles. Around the edges of swamps, chocolate brown cattail heads blend with sun-cured reeds and grasses. In shadowed woodlands the checkerberries are red jewels beneath waxy leaves.

The voices of autumn are beginning. Blue jays fly across the orchards and bugle to the changing season; friendly chickadees come from summer woodland haunts and explore the old Russet trees behind the woodshed. Crickets fiddle at noon in the aster bed beneath the kitchen window and bumble bees drone from blossom to blossom.

At dawn, at high noon and in mid-afternoon, one knows it is September—the ending of summer and the beginning of a new season in a cycle of time that man cannot control. But it is at dusk when on feels it most definitely.

When a man comes in from evening chores, he stops a minute in the yard. The sky is blazing with stars; a fox barks from the upland ridge. And then the sharp edge of a northwest breeze touches the cheek. It is September—still a remembrance of summer, but the scouts of autumn are here.

Farm Journal magazine makes a point about farming in an editorial in its September issue whose application to other industries needs to be better understood and appreciated.

It discusses the principles to which it hopes presidential candidates will subscribe in order to assure a prosperous agriculture.

One was this:

In order for agriculture to be strong, farming -- as the nation's biggest business-- must be a money-making enterprise. Nothing less than that is good enough! Farmers must make enough money from their farm earnings to maintain the agriculture plant, enlarge their farms, buy new machinery, adopt new techniques, conserve the soil for the future - and provide a decent life for their families. Farming should attract the young and challenge our best talent to stay in farm communities.

The American people and the political parties are extremely conscious of the plight of the wage earner, who is buffeted by inflationary forces.

This sympathy is not misplaced. Alone, it is not enough.

There is no corresponding acknowledgement of the need for industry to meet higher costs, to modernize plant and to automate in order to promote efficiency, reduce costs, to make a decent profit to provide the funds to accomplish all of these desirable things and to enable it to meet foreign competition.

Farming is caught up in this same apathy.

The average city dweller couldn't care less if cheap food comes from an impoverished farming industry.

The steel companies are a prime example of this monumental public indifference.

For many years steel profits have been squeezed badly.

Why?

Because people are indifferent and because those at the helm of national government have encouraged inflationary wage settlements for steel workers while hammering down steel profits to the minimum.

The industry needs more money to modernize plant, to automate, to compete with severe foreign competition and with other metals and substances -- aluminum, plastic, glass and paper to name but a few.

A healthy profit level for all American industry is in the national interest. It promotes more employment and helps the very people, who are the most indifferent and who tend to think only of their own immediate, selfish pocketbook interest.

Take a thousand who have been successful in store, shop, office, factory or field: men who have provided work for others, and assisted in building up the communities in which they live. Then take a thousand men who have always been idle. Not a man will be found in the first thousand as shiftless, as ignorant, as unfair, as prejudiced, as unreasonable, as lazy as the best of the second thousand.

IOWA'S MESSAGE TO MISSOURI

Gov. Hughes of Iowa, having abandoned his favorite-son role at the Democratic national convention, has now come out for Senator McCarthy, and is likely to carry a majority of his state's delegates with him. We trust the message will not be lost on Gov. Hearnes and the rest of the Missouri delegation. The message is that if public opinion has swung so sharply away from Vice President Humphrey in a key farm state next door to our own, the Missouri delegation might be wise to review its position.

Gov. Hearnes abandoned his own favorite-son intentions some time ago, and says he does not favor imposition of the unit rule on his delegation at Chicago. Yet he is reported to be using Mr. Humphrey. If he and other party leaders put on enough heat, they could conceivably deliver to the Vice President so many of the Missouri votes that it would not matter whether a unit rule were imposed or not. But is this really what they want to do?

More and more, the idea seems to be percolating among convention delegates that Senator McCarthy would be a stronger candidate against Mr. Nixon in November than Mr. Humphrey— especially in the suburbs, especially in the farm belt. There are straws in the wind right here in Missouri. For example, one Missouri delegate, Frank Ferrill of Sikeston, asked citizens of the 10th district late in July to express their preferences, and according to United Press International received what he called an overwhelming response in favor of Senator McCarthy's nomination. If Southeast Missouri feels that way, what about the rest of the state?

There is, of course, no legal obligation for delegates to heed the wishes of their constituents. They are free to vote their own judgment, and should indeed make up their own minds. But in doing so they ought to be free of pressure from the party leadership to vote the leadership's convictions rather than their own; and if they are wise they will take into account what the trend of public opinion means in terms of the November election.

Gov. Hughes of Iowa is running for United States Senator, and his support of Senator McCarthy is a clear expression of his conclusion that a Democratic ticket headed by the Senator would be the strongest the party could field in Iowa. Along with the powerful McCarthy movement in Wisconsin, and the shift of Kennedy supporters toward McCarthy now under way, this raises the distinct possibility that a McCarthy ticket could make inroads into supposedly Nixon territory in the Middle West in November, whereas a Humphrey ticket might not.

The importance of this possibility is that if Mr. Nixon runs as well as he did in 1960 in the South, the Middle West and West, he can hope to win an electoral college majority by carrying only one of the "big five" northern metropolitan states (New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois). If, however, he can be denied the votes of, say, Iowa and Wisconsin, which happen to be the two farm states which Truman carried to everyone's surprise in 1948, then Mr. Nixon's task would be much more difficult.

The Missouri delegates ought to think it all over, very carefully.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans now gulp 30 pounds of aspirin every minute around the clock—more than 21½ tons daily—to cure headaches and calm jittery nerves. Is all that worry really worthwhile?

The United States now has more than 100 million telephones. or one for every two persons. This is nearly half of all the telephones in the world. What would it sound like if, at a given moment, all the telephones ecerywhere rang at once?

Speeding costs money as well as increasing the possibility of accidents. Checks show that a car that gets 20 miles a gallon at 40 miles an hour gets only 12 miles a gallon at 80.

Time has outdated the idea that women must choose between matrimony and a career. Some 15 million U.S. married women now hold jobs outside the home.

Looking for an interesting new hobby? Why not take up dendrochronology, the science of dating past events by the growth rings of dead and living trees? The idea of using trees as calendars of history goes back to Leonardo da Vinci, the Italian universal genius of the 15th and 16th centuries.

Our cat-and-dog lovers now spend $1.5 million a day for pet foods, double the amount spent for prepared baby foods. It's nice we don't keep elephants instead of watchdogs. An elephant can munch 800 pounds of fodder between dawn and dusk.

Quotable notables: "The fear of ridicule causes our worst cowardice."—Andre Gide.

No bull: If you get bored with all the sophisticated chatter at a cocktail party, you can break it up by standing on a chair and asking how many guests know whether a cow's ears are in front or behind its horns. Just to keep you from tossing restlessly tonight yourself, the answer is—behind the horns.

Geographical oddities: Long before paleface politicians pitched their marble tepees in Washington, D.C., the Algonquin Indians gave an apt name to the Potomac river. Potomac means "trading place."

Sh-h-h-h: Medical science has found that too much noise can make you ill physically as well as tire you mentally. It is estimated that more than six million Americans work in areas so noisy they are a health hazard.

Have a drink: Water isn't usually regarded as a food but, broadly speaking it is. As a matter of fact, it is one of the two most important nutrients the body needs. The other is oxygen.

FROM TRAGEDY--CHANCE FOR US

"I was surprised at the way the police treated me the morning I was arrested. I expected much, much worse. I talked to one of them for about an hour...

"I found out we had a lot of things in common. I mean, he knew all about how life is a struggle for food and shelter and other things. When we left he said good night and wished me good luck."

Speaking from his prison cell in his first interview since his arrest was Fred (Ahmed) Evans, accused leader of black guerrillas who gunned down three policemen and seven civilians in the ambush in Cleveland's largely Negro Glenville area.

Among the latter was one James Cahpman, who was felled by the snipers while attempting to aid police Lt. Leroy Jones, who was also killed. Chapman was a Negro.

In the midst of her grief, the widon of Jones was able to say of him, "It was a wonderful thing he did. My heart bleeds for this man and his family. I hope this act by Mr. Chapman makes the bond closer, draws more compassion between whites and Negroes...I would hate to think my husband died for nothing."

At the time she spoke, Mrs. Jones had received more than 100 letters of sympathy from Clevelanders, including residents of Glenville.

What a tragedy that only after any chance of making a useful contribution to society is ended for Evans, he and a white policeman discover they have a lot of things in common. What a tragedy that it takes a senseless orgy of killing to demonstrate that human compassion knows nothing of skin color.

Have we not learned enough from violence, and may we not now go forward-not as white Americans and black Americans but, as Robert Kennedy once pleaded, simply as brothers and countrymen again?

I DON'T care!" Four times within a week the writer heard those words. The very expresson, so commonplace in our conversation, is frightening.

First, they were spoken by a child selfishly demanding a better dress than her plainly-garbed mother could obviously afford. To every explanation, the child's answer was, "I don't care; this is what I want."

Next, it was a parent summoned before the police magistrate for the misbehavior of a son. Asked whether he knew his boy's associates, he retorted, "I don't care who they are"

Then it was a husband confronted with divorce proceedings; and, lastly, a 27-year-old man facing the penitentiary for armed robbery. By willful deed, as well as by word, each of these was intent upon breeding heartache and disaster.

How often do we say, "I don't care," when some detail in our work demands closer attention than we have been giving it; or some responsiblity in our home tries our patience. They are tragic words too lightly spoken, too quickly fatal.

There is a few things our lawmakers office holders and officeseekers refuse to even mention in their quest for dictatorship. Among them is the dodge of the Probate Court by corporations, the price of flour in relation to the price of wheat, the un Godly saleries, without the consent of the people who have to pay, all boiled down taxation without representation that makes John Bull's dealings with our Forefathers look like a benevolent rich Uncle and to cap it all off, everbody knows it's true and that we have laws on the books to remedy these injustice but nothing has been done about it so far, looks like both old parties are headed for the ash can and will be replaced by one party, and U name it.

It's comparable to a steam boiler without a pop value and the steam guage covered with a dark cloth, if you keep pouring on the fuel you are gonna have an explosion, and to cap the climax it seems like even when the people elect our most honored respected and reliable men when they get into the drivers seat they start pouring on the fuel with a Vim and vigor, not even looking an inch before their nose.

This all may seem to be poppy— now, but unless there is an about face and soon, those living will see the point.

"THREE IN ONE" CONCEPT

It is clear that the matter of restoring and maintaining law and order in the United States will be one of principal concern in this year's presidential campaign. That is fitting and necessary.

No candidate is likely to come out openly against law and order. But it may well be noted that some persons are trying to confuse this clear-cut issue by claiming that law and order are forgetting about justice. They would have the people believe that the three concepts--law, order, justice--are separate and distinct entities. They imply that the maintenance of law and order may result in injustice being done to various groups.

The three concepts are in fact so related that the speaking of law and order usually carries the assumption of justice. The purpose of enacting a law is to insure justice. Some laws may turn out not to have this effect, and in that case they can be repealed. But in the course of normal events justice is a natural consequence of law and order.

The question arises as to what objective is in the minds of those who willfully try to confuse the issues involved in this subject. We have to wonder if they truly favor for all Americans the kind of justice that can be obtained only if law and order prevail in our nation. If they are using doubletalk to advance certain purposes which they do not wish to speak freely about, the people should be informed as to their actual purpose.HLH

By Drew Pearson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: FBI reports NCB "bugged" Demo platform committee; Network claims mike was unconnected, nothing overheard; House reforms stymied by committee perennials.

WASHINGTON--In a confidential report to attorney general Ramsey Clark, the FBI has identified the culprit in the famous "bugging" incident at the Democratic convention as NBC.

A hidden mike was found in the hotel room where the platform committee was holding its secret deliberations. The wire was traced to an NBC outlet two floors above.

NBC explained to the FBI that produced Enid Roth had thought the meeting would be open and had ordered not only the mike but also cameras and lights for the room. She learned the meeting was closed, according to NBC, too late to withdraw the mike.

Miss Roth at first denied to the FBI that the mike belonged to NBC, but later changed her story, explaining that she had panicked. The FBI report claimed the mike was discovered under a sofa pillow. NBC said it had been taped to a window sill but admitted it had been concealed behind a curtain.

While the mike was in the room, by an interesting coincidence the communications plank happened to come under discussion. This was a matter in which NBC had a vital interest.

A rough draft of the platform had already been written before the committee assembled behind closed doors. On the subject of television, this merely stated: "The mas media need a broad base of economic support consistent with their obligation to serve the public. To this end, we have supported educational television."

TV VIOLENCE DEPLORED

When this was brought up, Vice President Humphrey's representatives called for a stronger stand in favor of "continuing support for the prompt enactment of a long-range financing plan that will help ensure the vigor and independence of (educational television."

The Humphrey forces also demanded a plank, that was later adopted, declaring: "We deplore the all too frequent practice of exploiting violence in television programming and urge the federal communications commission, through the use of its power to revoke and renew broadcast licenses, to end this practice."

NBC has denied that its concealed mike picked up the confidential discussion of TV violence or any other conversations. An NBC spokesman told this column that the mike was not connected to a recorder or speaker and, therefore, that nothing was overheard.

"Any NBC employee who is caught eavesdropping will be fired," added the spokesman.

NOTE: The national association for better broadcasting has just released the results of a survey which shows that the television networks are still featuring blood and brutality on the home screen. Frank Orme, NABB executive vice president, has accused the networks of pretending to adhere to a code against excessive violence while they continue to grow fat on profits milked from TV violence.

YOUTH VS. AGE

A classic confrontation between youth and age is developing in the House of Representatives over legislative reforms. Kindly old speaker John McCormack has marked the reforms for a quiet burial. Dynamic, young Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill., is determined to dig them up.

McCormack is fronting for the committee chairmen, who hold the real power on capitol Hill. They are inclined to run their committees like feudal baronies.

Most committee chairmen are past the 65-year mandatory retirement age that the majority of private corporations set for their executives. In the Senate, 10 of the 16 chairmen are past 65; six are over 70. The situation is much the same in the House, where eleven of the 20 chairmen are past 65 and seven are past 70. Yet these are the men who are supposed to stimulate our youth, to get America going.

Most chairmen also come from small towns or rural areas. Thus has Congress entrusted the explosive problems of our great cities to men from another time and place.

The flow of legislation is controlled by Senate rules chairman Everett Jordan, 72, of Saxapahaw, N.C., and House rules chairman Wiliam Colmer, 78, of Pascagoula, Miss. Most bills dealing with the cities are processed by Senate labor and welfare chairman Lister Hill, 73, of Montgomery, Ala., and House education and labor chairman Carl Perkins, 55, of Hindman, Ky.

No wonder the people of the ghettos and the youth of the country feel that their cries are ignored and that they must resort to violence to be heard. It will be interesting to see whether Rumsfeld can rally enough young dissidents in the House to overcome the throttlehold of the old chairmen of legislation. To move these old codgers will take an outpouring of mail from home.

LBJ'S MELON

Pointing to an immense pile of choice watermelons passman Passman invited Dev O'Neill, Photographer for the Democratic national committee: "Take you pick."

O'Neill walked off with a big one.

The next morning O'Neill got a frantic phone call from a young lady in Passman's office.

"Do you still have that melon?" she asked.

"Yes," replied the photographer.

"Well, please bring it back," she instructed. "You've got the President's melon!"

Given in marriage by E. D. Brown, her brother-in-law, the bride wore a floor-length A-line dress of white moire. The bodice was fashioned with long sleeves that ended in points over the hands. A train was attached at the shoulders and secured by a cluster of pearls.

A rose surrounded by buds and pearls secured a fingertip veil of white illusion. She carried a bouquet of white rose buds and lilies of the valley.

The former Miss Haws carried out the theme of something old, something new in her wedding attire. For something old, she wore a Kappa Delta sorority bracelet; for something new, her gown; borrowed, pearl earrings that belong to her sister and blue, a garter.

Maid of honor was Teresa Haws, her sister. Mrs. Jan Faulkner was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jennie Terry of Jonesboro, Ark., a college classmate, and Miss Linda Ward, the bride's niece. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Melanie Cummins, also a niece. Flower girls were Miss Angelia Martin of Bertrand, the bride's niece, and Miss Sandy Arsta.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of yellow peau de soie and yellow illusion viels secured by eyllow rose bud headpieces.

Each carried a long stemmed yellow rose. The flower girls carried yellow net and ribbon baskets.

Best man was Larry D. Owens. Bobby Higgins, Cecil Whitson and Ray Ward were groomsmen. Ushers were George Edward Brown of Jonesboro, the bride's nephew; Donnie Bishop of Jonesboro and Billy Deason of Blodgett.

Timmy Martin of Bertrand, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

Candlelighters were Mark Cummins of Griffith, Ind., and Eddie Embry of Farmington, both nephews of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a beige dress, brown accessories and a corsage of white roses and pompons. Mrs. Whitson wore a green dress, black accessories and a corsage of white roses and pompons.

A reception was held in the church dining room. The bride's table was covered in white and overlaid with yellow net. A three-tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells.

Serving were Mrs. Johnnie Segars and Mrs. LaBelva Ammons, both of Jonesboro, and Mrs. Frances Embry of Farmington, the bride's sister.

For a wedding trip to Memphis, the new Mrs. Whitson wore a white linen suit, yellow accessories and a corsage of roses from her bouquet.

They are living at 200 Richmond in Jonesboro. Mrs. Whitson is a graduate of Arkansas State University. She will be working toward master's degree while teaching in the physical education division of the university as a graduate assistant.

1969 CHEVROLET LIGHT-DUTY PICKUP TRUCK

Boldly restyled for a more massive front end appearance with higher hood line and silver- anodized aluminum grille, the 1969 Chevrolet light conventional truck models combine attractive styling with a sturdy chassis for work or pleasure use. Improvements include new brighter interiors, foot-operated parking brake, tighter door selling, automatic choke on all engines, and revised cab and sheet metal mountings for a quieter ride. New options include a 4 bbl. 350 cu. in 255 hp. V8 engine, and dressup moldings with black paint inlays or wood-grain vinyl inserts.

1969 CHEVROLET TRUCK LINE

Higher-powered base engines in three series, three new 350 cu. in. V-8 engines, major front-end restyling of light conventional models, numerous chassis improvements, and many new and expanded options highlight the changes in the 1969 Chevrolet truck line.

The new 350 cu. in. engines are optional in light-duty conventional and forward-control models at 255 hp. in two versions for normal or severe operations. A third heavy-duty version, rated at 200 hp. at lower rpm., is standard in 1-1/2- and 2-ton medium-duty V8 gas models.

In 2-ton heavy-duty models, a 235 hp. 366 V8 is made standard equipment, replacing the former 185 hp. 327 V8. Again, all Chevrolet gasoline truck engines can be operated on regular grade fuel.

Also new for 1969 is a Chevrolet-designed 3-speed manual transmission designed to accommodate the power output of the larger V8 engines.

LIGHT—DUTY CONVENTIONAL LINE

Major styling changes in the light-duty conventional series give the front end a more massive appearance, with a higher, virtually horizontal hood line and new anodized aluminum grille.

New cab and sheet metal mounts, better door seals, and a new steering shaft coupling which isolates road noise and vibration make the cab interior much quieter. A new polyurethane foam seatback cushion gives increased comfort.

Other new chassis features include automatic choke with all engines, two-stage multi-leaf rear leaf springs for better ride with light loads on models where leaf springs are standard or optional, foot-operated parking brake, wide-base tires on 3/4- and 1-ton models for better ride and lower vehicle height, and optional power steering on four-wheel drive models for the first time.

Among other improvements are new optional Below-Eye-Line outside mirrors with low-mounting brackets for unobstructed side vision and reduced wind noise, a higher capacity windshield wiper and washer assembly, and relocation of instrument controls for more convenient access to light and wiper-washer switches.

Interiors are brighter, with five new colors available, and a carpeting option now is offered for 3/4- and 1-ton cabs. A new design two-spoke steering wheel is larger for reduced steering effort.

Optional dressup items available include vinyl bucket seats with hand-tooled leather appearance, and a variety of bright metal trim, including exterior moldings with black paint or vinyl simulated wood-grain side inlays.

FORWARD—CONTROL VANS

Improvements in the Step-Van included a restyled front end for the 1/2-ton model to provide a hinged hood panel for more convenient access to the engine. Two-stage multi-leaf rear leaf springs with rubber eye bushings are new on 3/4- and 1-ton models, as are wide base tires for improved ride and handling and lower vehicle height.

Several improvements are offered in the 1969 Chevy-Van and Sportvan. New this year in both the Sportvan and Chevy-Van is a 3-speed automatic transmission, optionally available with all engines. Front bucket seats are redesigned for more comfort, and trim styling is new on standard and optional seats.

For the first time, an air conditioning system is available for the two top Sportvan models. A high-capacity body-integrated unit, it has a roof-mounted condenser ad full-length ceiling duct with adjustable outlets to front and rear compartments.

MEDIUM—DUTY LINE

New for most 2-ton models with 366 or 427 V8 engines is an integral charging system combinging a generator and miniaturized integrated circuit voltage regulator into one compact unit. Voltage settings remain precise because moving parts and contacts have been eliminated.

An important new option is an emergency stopping and parking brake system for 2-ton models equippped with air brakes. It starts to function when air pressure in the system falls below 60 PSI and automatically applies the brakes for an emergency stop when pressure drops to about 30 PSI. A manual control valve in the cab is used to set the air brakes for parking. Also available as a new option is a dual brake system for most chassis-cab models with vacuum-hydraulic brakes.

Other improvements include tighter cab door sealing, more convenient location of instrument controls, and new design foam seatbacks for increased comfort. New front clearance and identification lamps of inverted bowl lens design provide full 360 degree visibility for greater safety.

HEAVY—DUTY LINE

The power lineup in the Chevrolet heavy-duty series for 1969 consists of one diesel and four gasoline engines. In addition to the standard 366 in the 2-ton heavy-duty series, a 260 hp. 427 V8 is optiona. The 3-ton series is exclusively gasoline engine powered, with a 237 hp. 401 V6 standard and 254 hp. 478 V6 optional. All 2-1/2-ton models are equipped with the 318 cu. in. 6V-53 diesel, rated at 195 hp.

The heavy-duty 2-ton line shares many of the improvements made in the light or medium lines. They include the optional dual vacuum-hydraulic brake and emergency air brake systems, more convenient instrument controls, new foam seatback design, better cab sealing, brighter cab interiors, and full visibility front identification and clearance lamps.

In 3-ton models new all vinyl and custom cloth-vinyl seat trims are color keyed to the instrument panel. The standard driver's seat and all optional driver and auxiliary seats in the 2-1/2- ton models are new black vinyl. In both 2-1/2- and 3-ton lines, instrument cluster and heater control panels have wood-grain trim and bright bezels for instruments.

Birds Outlast Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Phil Gagliano has the answer to baseball's perplexing problem of the vanishing .300 hitter.

Forget about making the gloves smaller, moving back the pitcher's mound, or shrinking the strike zone. Just bring the infield in for a play at the plate.

Make it a play at the plate in the 11th inning and give the pitcher a strike two count on the higher. Then Gagliano will show you what he means. He demonstrated the theory Sunday and its practical application helped the Cardinals to a 3-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants, ending a Cardinal four-game tailspin.

It also reduced the Cardinals' National League pennant-clinching number to seven games. Any combination of Cardinal victorie or Giant losses totaling seven and St. Louis can prepare to host its second straight World Series.

But back to Gagliano's thesis.

"They say a .220 hitter becomes a .320 hitter when the infield is in," Gagliano lectured. "The infield, or course, was in. I didn't hit the ball well; but even though he challenged me with a fastball on an 0-2 count, I wasn't going to let him strike me out."

'He was Frank Linzy, 8-8, whose pitch Gagliano didn't hit well. The infield was in because Dal Maxvill was on third and Lou Brock onfirst with one out and the score tied 2-2. Gagliano pinch hit for Joe Hoerner and didn't hit the pitch well. But he hit it to left for a ground single that scored Maxvill.

The score was tied because Willie Mays made a two-base error and pitcher Bob Gibson was used as a pinch runner. The Giants had gone ahead 2-1 on Dick Dietz' single.

Then Mays misjudged pinch hitter Roger Maris' leadoff fly ball in the ninth. Mays got to it and made a jumping grab but couldn't hold on.

Gibson ran for Maris and went to third on a fly ball. Pinch hitter Johnny Edwards then drove him in with the tying run on a sacrifice fly.

It was Mays who had helped the Giants tie the score inthe fifth inning. Orlando Cepeda put the Cardinals ahead by blasting his 15th homer of the season in the fourth off Giant starter Mike McCormick.

With rain pouring down as the fifth began St. Louis starter Nelson Briles just tried to throw strikes to get the inning in and make it an official game. But with two out he threw a strike that Dietz' bounced off the wall in left for a triple. Mays came up with a pinch hit single to tie it.

Briles was back pitching after an hour's rain delay. He had good reason.

"I was really selfish out there. I wanted to win badly so I can win 20," Briles said. He has 17 victories so far. "Now my back is really against the wall. I hope I pitch as well in my last three starts as I did today."

Joe Hoerner came in to hold the Giants scoreless the last two innings. And if Briles is still working on his 20-victory season, Hoerner has his--sort of.

It was Hoerner's eighth victory. He also has 12 saves. Hoerner wanted a hand in 20 Cardinal victories. His 20th was a big one for the Cardinals.

The Giants had taken the first three games of the series and reduced the Cardinals' lead to a still-substantial 10½ games. But as Orlando Cepeda explained, mentally. It was a big game, because if the Giants had taken it as Orlando Cepeda explained, "winning this one relieved us mentally. It was a big game, because if the Giants had taken it that would have kept their momentum going."

The Los Angeles Dodgers start a three-game series tonight with Don Sutton (7-14) going against Larry Jaster (9-11).

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.

AP - Chester Good, an 8-year-old bay stallion, knocked almost two seconds off his world trotting record Sunday in winning a heat in a race of the American Shetland Pony Club National Sweepstakes.

His time for the half mile at saratoga Raceway as 1:23 1-5, topping his previous mark of 1:25 set two years ago.

MONTREAL AP - Phelodie, owned by J. Frowde Seagram of Waterloo, Ont., won the $32,385 Quebec Derby, a race restricted to Canadian-foaled 3-year-olds run at Blue Bonnets Raceway Sunday.

Veteran jockey Hugo Dittfach kept Phelodie well off the race in the early running of the 1 4-mile test and then booted his colt home on the outside to win by a length over Big Blunder, the 4-to-5 favorite.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad AP - Geoffrey Ferreira, Trinidad's lone swimmer for the Olympics, established two national records Sunday on the final day of a three-day swimming meet.

Ferreira won the 400-yard freestyle for 15 and over in 4:18.6. His other record came in the 200-yard freestyle, his 1:56.8 bettering his own mark by one fifth of a second.

Mizzou Moves In Skywriters Big Eight Poll

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri and Nebraska picked up ground, but Oklahoma retained its role as the championship favorite in a poll of newsmen making the sixth annual Skywriters tour.

Kansas fell from third to fourth and Missouri moved from fourth to third, otherwise the poll of 28 touring newsmen put the teams in the same order as a mid-July ballot conducted by the Kansas sports publicist, Jay Simon.

It is a dubous honor for Oklahoma's defending champions, because the Skywriters have been right only twice before, 1965 and 1966 when Nebraska won the title both years.

Oklahoma had a winning total of 43½ points in the poll conducted Saturday, while Nebraska had 57, Missouri 89½, Kansas 101, Colorado 137½, Oklahoma State 165½, Kansas State 190 and Iowa State 223.

In first place votes, it was Oklahoma 17 and one tie, Nebraska nine and one tie, and Colorado one.

In July, 157 voters gave Oklahoma 222, Nebraska 461 and Kansas a close third at 485, with OU getting 116 first place votes to 14 for Kansas and 13 for Nebraska.

Missouri was voted the team which altered the thinking of the touring newsmen the most, 11-5 over K-State.

The top sophomore lineman was Ken Davis of Oklahoma with 11, while Nip Weisenfels of Missouri had four and one tie and Guy Ingles of Nebraska four. Don Autry and John Riggins of Kansas tied with seven votes each for top sophomore back, while Marcellous Johnson of Oklahoma had six and Russell Harrison of K-State four.

Meredith's Bomb Explodes In Face

Dallas' Don Meredith tried to bomb out of the National Football League's exhibition season, but Johnny Unitas beat him to it.

Green Bay's Bart Starr, on the other hand, took his good old time and that was fast enough to get by Cleveland.

Even before Meredith could take aim, Unitas had dropped an 84-yard scoring bomb to John Mackey, and when Meredith tried his fireworks, they exploded in his face and instead set up Baltimore's 16-10 victory last Saturday night.

Starr used fullback Jim Grabowski to pick apart Cleveland's defense along with a few explosions of his own as the Packers trampled the Browns 31-9.

With the real fireworks set for this weekend, six other NFL teams ended their preseason chores last Saturday.

In other all NFL games Philadelphia surprised the New York Giants 21-7 in the afternoon and Washington stopped Pittsburgh 24-17 at night. The New York Jets of the American League beat Detroit of the NFL 9-6 and Miami of the AFL tripped Atlanta of the NFL 19-6, helping the AFL to a 13-10 edge over the NFL in preseason play.

In the AFL, Oakland beat Denver 23-7, and in regular season play, Boston defeated Buffalo 16-7 on Sunday. Houston and Kansas City play tonight.

Unitas hit Mackey with a quick pass on the first play from scrimmage and the rugged tight end ran over tacklers to put Baltimore in front ina bitter struggle between NFL powerhouses.

With Meredith connecting on short passes, the Cowboys came back to tie 10-10, but then he turned to the long bombs which Dallas has used so successfully in the past. This time they got burned.

The Colts intercepted four Meredith passes, two in the final period, and Lou Michaels kicked field goals of 22 and 11 yards. The Cowboys also fumbled away two other drives inside the Baltimore 10 yard line.

"We made enough mistakes for four games," said Cowboys' coach Tom Landry of the nationally televised game in the Cotton Bowl.

Grabowski scored twice on two yard runs and once on an 18-yard pass from Starr, and set up a 13-yard scoring sprint by Donny Anderson before 84,918 fans, the largest crowd in Browns' history. Starr finished with 11 completions in 17 attempts for 164 yards.

Don Cockroft kicked three field goals for Cleveland's points in the second game of the annual doubleheader at Memorial Stadium.

Joe Namath's passes set up a touchdown and a field goal in the first half as the Jets downed the Lions in the first game. Jerry DePoyster booted two field goals for Detroit, which lost two chances inside the 10 on Mel Farr fumbles.

Sonny Jurgensen, in his 1968 debut, shook off his arm miseries and hit on 16 of 26 passes for 211 yards, including two scoring tosses to Charley Taylor in Washington's victory.

Bob Griese's passes set up a touchdown and Jimmy Keyes' second field goal in the final half for Miami. Rookie Dick Anderson ran 28 yards with an intercepted pass for the other score.

Injuries and military duty kept seven Philadelphia regulars out of the game, but the Eagles still overcame a 7-0 deficit

With rain pouring down as the fifth began St. Louis starter Nelson Briles just tried to throw strikes to get the inning in and make it an official game. But with two out he threw a strike that Dietz' bounced off the wall in left for a triple. Mays came up with a pinch hit single to tie it.

Briles was back pitching after an hour's rain delay. He had good reason.

"I was really selfish out there. I wanted to win badly so I can win 20," Briles said. He has 17 victories so far. "Now my back is really against the wall. I hope I pitch as well in my last three starts as I did today."

Joe Hoerner came in to hold the Giants scoreless the last two innings. And if Briles is still working on his 20-victory season, Hoerner has his-sort of.

It was Hoerner's eighth victory. He also has 12 saves. Hoerner wanted a hand in 20 Cardinal victories. His 20th was a big one for the Cardinals.

The Giants had taken the first three games of the series and reduced the Cardinals' lead to a still-substantial 10½ games. But as Orlando Cepeda explained, mentally. It was a big game, because if the Giants had taken it as Orlando Cepeda explained, "winning this one relieved us mentally. It was a big game, because if the Giants had taken it that would have kept their momentum going."

The Los Angeles Dodgers start a three-game series tonight with Don Sutton (7-14) going against Larry Jaster (9-11).

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. AP - Chester Good, an 8-year-old bay stallion, knocked almost two seconds off his world trotting record Sunday in winning a heat in a race of the American Shetland Pony Club National Sweepstakes.

His time for the half mile at saratoga Raceway as 1:23 1-5, topping his previous mark of 1:25 set two years ago.

MONTREAL AP - Phelodie, owned by J. Frowde Seagram of Waterloo, Ont., won the $32,385 Quebec Derby, a race restricted to Canadian-foaled 3-year-olds run at Blue Bonnets Raceway Sunday.

Veteran jockey Hugo Dittfach kept Phelodie well off the race in the early running of the 1 4-mile test and then booted his colt home on the outside to win by a length over Big Blunder, the 4-to-5 favorite.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad AP - Geoffrey Ferreira, Trinidad's lone swimmer for the Olympics, established two national records Sunday on the final day of a three-day swimming meet.

Ferreira won the 400-yard freestyle for 15 and over in 4:18.8. His other record came in the 200-yard freestyle, his 1:56.8 bettering his own mark by one fifth of a second.

Mizzou Moves In Skywriters Big Eight Poll

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri and Nebraska picked up ground, but Oklahoma retained its role as the championship favorite in a poll of newsmen making the sixth annual Skywriters tour.

Kansas fell from third to fourth and Missouri moved from fourth to third, otherwise the poll of 28 touring newsmen put the teams in the same order as a mid-July ballot conducted by the Kansas sports publicist, Jay Simon.

It is a dubous honor for Oklahoma's defending champions, because the Skywriters have been right only twice before, 1965 and 1966 when Nebraska won the title both years.

Oklahoma had a winning total of 43½ points in the poll conducted Saturday, while Nebraska had 57, Missouri 89½, Kansas 101, Colorado 137½, Oklahoma State 165½, Kansas State 190 and Iowa State 223.

In first place votes, it was Oklahoma 17 and one tie, Nebraska nine and one tie, and Colorado one.

In July, 157 voters gave Oklahoma 222, Nebraska 461 and Kansas a close third at 485, with OU getting 116 first place votes to 14 for Kansas and 13 for Nebraska.

Missouri was voted the team which altered the thinking of the touring newsmen the most, 11-5 over K-State.

The top sophomore lineman was Ken Davis of Oklahoma with 11, while Nip Weisenfels of Missouri had four and one tie and Guy Ingles of Nebraska four. Don Autry and John Riggins of Kansas tied with seven votes each for top sophomore back, while Marcellous Johnson of Oklahoma had six and Russell Harrison of K-State four.

Meredith's Bomb Explodes In Face

Dallas' Don Meredith tried to bomb out of the National Football League's exhibition season, but Johnny Unitas beat him to it.

Green Bay's Bart Starr, on the other hand, took his good old time and that was fast enough to get by Cleveland.

Even before Meredith could take aim, Unitas had dropped an 84-yard scoring bomb to John Mackey, and when Meredith tried his fireworks, they exploded in his face and instead set up Baltimore's 16-10 victory last Saturday night.

Starr used fullback Jim Grabowski to pick apart Cleveland's defense along with a few explosions of his own as the Packers trampled the Browns 31-9.

With the real fireworks set for this weekend, six other NFL teams ended their preseason chores last Saturday.

In other all NFL games Philadelphia surprised the New York Giants 21-7 in the afternoon and Washington stopped Pittsburgh 24-17 at night. The New York Jets of the American League beat Detroit of the NFL 9-6 and Miami of the AFL tripped Atlanta of the NFL 19-6, helping the AFL to a 13-10 edge over the NFL in preseason play.

In the AFL, Oakland beat Denver 23-7, and in regular season play, Boston defeated Buffalo 16-7 on Sunday. Houston and Kansas City play tonight.

Unitas hit Mackey with a quick pass on the first play from scrimmage and the rugged tight end ran over tacklers to put Baltimore in front ina bitter struggle between NFL powerhouses.

With Meredith connecting on short passes, the Cowboys came back to tie 10-10, but then he turned to the long bombs which Dallas has used so successfully in the past. This time they got burned.

The Colts intercepted four Meredith passes, two in the final period, and Lou Michaels kicked field goals of 22 and 11 yards. The Cowboys also fumbled away two other drives inside the Baltimore 10 yard line.

"We made enough mistakes for four games," said Cowboys' coach Tom Landry of the nationally televised game in the Cotton Bowl.

Grabowski scored twice on two yard runs and once on an 18-yard pass from Starr, and set up a 13-yard scoring sprint by Donny Anderson before 84,918 fans, the largest crowd in Browns' history. Starr finished with 11 completions in 17 attempts for 164 yards.

Don Cockroft kicked three field goals for Cleveland's points in the second game of the annual doubleheader at Memorial Stadium.

Joe Namath's passes set up a touchdown and a field goal in the first half as the Jets downed the Lions in the first game. Jerry DePoyster booted two field goals for Detroit, which lost two chances inside the 10 on Mel Farr fumbles.

Sonny Jurgensen, in his 1968 debut, shook off his arm miseries and hit on 16 of 26 passes for 211 yards, including two scoring tosses to Charley Taylor in Washington's victory.

Bob Griese's passes set up a touchdown and Jimmy Keyes' second field goal in the final half for Miami. Rookie Dick Anderson ran 28 yards with an intercepted pass for the other score.

Injuries and military duty kept seven Philadelphia regulars out of the game, but the Eagles still overcame a 7-0 deficit

MAKE HOUSEWORK 60% EASIER THIS SUMMER WITH A MUDROOM

What's a mudroom? It's a room that traps dirt before it gets into the rest of the house by controlling the traffic pattern. According to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau it should have at least a sink with hot and cold water and room to clean muddy boots and hang damp clothes.

It becomes even more convenient if you include a water closet and shower, and a work counter for arranging flowers or cleaning vegetables fresh from the garden.

Keeping house becomes 60 percent easier when you have a mudroom, the Bureau notes. That's probably why homemaker surveys consistently put this facility near the top of their most-wanted items.

Each year, 44 whooping cranes migrate 2,500 miles from Canada to Texas in the fall and back again in the spring. Carefully guarded now, these graceful white birds with long, thin, black legs and black-tipped wings have been close to extinction. In 1939, The World Almanac says, they numbered as few as 14.

The Maldive Islands honor the history of aviation on a set of eight new stamps depicting famous aircraft of yesteryear and today.

The 2 1 and 10 1 depict the Graf Zeppelin and Montgolfier's hot-air balloon which made the first man-carrying free balloon flight Nov. 21, 1783.

The 3 1 shows the Douglas DC-3 of 1933 and the Boeing 707 jet. The 5 1 has the Lilienthal plane, actually a glider, of 1892 and the Wright Brothers' first powered airplane of 1905. The 7 1 and 2 r illustrates the British and French "Concorde" Supersonic Boeing 733.

These large stamps are printed in sheets of 12 with a wide illustrated margin featuring many other interesting stages in the history of civil aviation.

The Republic of China on Formosa has issued two new stamps commemorating the 40th anniversary of the Broadcasting Corporation of China, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The stamps have denominations of $1 and $4 (Taiwan currency). The $1 stamp shows radio waves from the BCC in Taiwan beaming out over the China mainland. The $4 stamp depicts red and blue circles generating from two points to symbolize the dual carriers used in the BCC's new stereo FM service. The BCC was established Aug. 1, 1928, in Nanking and moved to Taiwan in 1949.

Many Democrats Switching To Wallace

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
In the Commercial Appeal

CHICAGO—To say that deification of blackness has become a Democratic religion, that flattery of high-visibity pigmentation has become ritualistic, that fear of ethnic-stirred violence has become a party discipline, that there has come a bowing-and-scraping by the partisan palefaces before the altars of Baal—none of this would be an exaggeration. All of it would be eye-witness, ear-witness and allowable interpretation of a scene spread before the reporters of the 35th Democratic convention.

"If George Wallace looks like having a chance in November, he'll get my vote and a lot of others," said the cab driver. It might have passed as a pointless remark except that Chicago under Mayor Richard Daley is an accurate microcosm of what America would be under George Wallace - a place made as safe-and-sane as any police state can be.

This would be an over-much observation if given as a cover-all generalization. But to say that this convention could not have taken place save that federal troops actually outnumbered the delegates, and that no candidate for the American presidency can hope to live without a human shield of public and private guards, and that the authorities dealt with a situation where the flags of a foreign enemy—the ensigns of the Viet Cong—were insultantly flaunted, and that arbitrary dictatorship in this city was nose-to-nose with absolute anarchy—none of this is hyperbole. All of it was fact in Chicago.

And all of it says as clearly to the closet-philosopher as it does to the cab driver that the Democrats couldn't have done more for George Wallace if they had just gone crazy and nominated him.

If the Democrats have any chance whatever to beat Nixon, it will only be because their convention put up a stage-setting for Wallace. To be sure, Chicago was not the mob-scene that it appeared to be at its melodramatic peak.

—even for thousands who perspire heavily

A new-type formula has been found to keep underarms absolutely dry—even for thousands who perspire heavily.

After decades of common "deodorants," it took a chemical invention to make this truly effective protection possible—with the same safety to clothing—the same skin mildness as popular "deodorants." Called Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, it is the product of a trustworthy 55-year-old laboratory. By the thousands, women with problem perspiration are finding the protection they need—and never could find before. And fully effective as a deodorant, too, of course.

If you perspire more than average—even heavily—get the positive protection of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. Liquid—smoothes on thru satin. Or Cream—vanishing, non-sticky. Each $3.00.

BOTH HAVE MONEY BACK GUARANTEE—If you are not entirely satisfied with Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, liquid or cream, return package to the store where you bought it. Stores are authorized to refund full cash price.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

The Maldive Islands honor the history of aviation on a set of eight new stamps depicting famous aircraft of yesteryear and today.

The 2 1 and 10 1 depict the Graf Zeppelin and Montgolfier's hot-air balloon which made the first man-carrying free balloon flight Nov. 21, 1783.

The 3 1 shows the Douglas DC-3 of 1933 and the Boeing 707 jet. The 5 1 has the Lilienthal plane, actually a glider, of 1892 and the Wright Brothers' first powered airplane of 1905. The 7 1 and 2 r illustrates the British and French "Concorde" Supersonic Boeing 733.

These large stamps are printed in sheets of 12 with a wide illustrated margin featuring many other interesting stages in the history of civil aviation.

The Republic of China on Formosa has issued two new stamps commemorating the 40th anniversary of the Broadcasting Corporation of China, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The stamps have denominations of $1 and $4 (Taiwan currency). The $1 stamp shows radio waves from the BCC in Taiwan beaming out over the China mainland. The $4 stamp depicts red and blue circles generating from two points to symbolize the dual carriers used in the BCC's new stereo FM service. The BCC was established Aug. 1, 1928, in Nanking and moved to Taiwan in 1949.

The 35th edition of the United States Specialized Catalog of First-Day Covers has been published by the Washington Press. Nearly 1,000 changes have been made in the 85 pages of Leo August's standard philatelic reference work.

Most of the price changes are upward. For example, a complete set on cover of the 1901 Pan Americans is now listed at $500. Last year it was quoted at $350. A complete set of the 1920 Pilgrim stamps which last year was listed at an even $200 is now $250. The 3-cent George Washington stamp (on cover) issued July 1, 1851, is now at $525.

The catalog sells for 85 cents and can be obtained at your local stamp dealer or directly from the Washington Press, Maplewood, N.J. 07040.

Many Democrats Switching To Wallace

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
In the Commercial Appeal

CHICAGO—To say that deification of blackness has become a Democratic religion, that flattery of high-visibity pigmentation has become ritualistic, that fear of ethnic-stirred violence has become a party discipline, that there has come a bowing-and-scraping by the partisan palefaces before the altars of Baal—none of this would be an exaggeration. All of it would be eye-witness, ear-witness and allowable interpretation of a scene spread before the reporters of the 35th Democratic onvention.

"If George Wallace looks like having a chance in November, he'll get my vote and a lot of others," said the cab driver. It might have passed as a pointless remark except that Chicago under Mayor Richard Daley is an accurate microcosm of what America would be under George Wallace - a place made as safe-and-sane as any police state can be.

This would be an over-much observation if given as a cover-all generalization. But to say that this convention could not have taken place save that federal troops actually outnumbered the delegates, and that no candidate for the American presidency can hope to live without a human shield of public and private guards, and that the authorities dealt with a situation where the flags of a foreign enemy—the ensigns of the Viet Cong—were insultantly flaunted, and that arbitrary dictatorship in this city was nose-to-nose with absolute anarchy—none of this is hyperbole. All of it was fact in Chicago.

And all of it says as clearly to the closet-philosopher as it does to the cab driver that the Democrats couldn't have done more for George Wallace if they had just gone crazy and nominated him.

If the Democrats have any chance whatever to beat Nixon, it will only be because their convention put up a stage-setting for Wallace. To be sure, Chicago was not the mob-scene that it appeared to be at its melodramatic peak.

MAKE HOUSEWORK 60% EASIER THIS SUMMER WITH A MUDROOM

What's a mudroom? It's a room that traps dirt before it gets into the rest of the house by controlling the traffic pattern. According to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau it should have at least a sink with hot and cold water and room to clean muddy boots and hang damp clothes.

It becomes even more convenient if you include a water closet and shower, and a work counter for arranging flowers or cleaning vegetables fresh from the garden.

Keeping house becomes 60 percent easier when you have a mudroom, the Bureau notes. That's probably why homemaker surveys consistently put this facility near the top of their most-wanted items.

Each year, 44 whooping cranes migrate 2,500 miles from Canada to Texas in the fall and back again in the spring. Carefully guarded now, these graceful white birds with long, thin, black legs and black-tipped wings have been close to extinction. In 1939, The World Almanac says, they numbered as few as 14.

GEORGE WALLACE CANDIDACY CERTIFIED FOR STATE BALLOT

JEFFERSON City, Mo, - Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick has certified the placing of George C. Wallace's name on the Missouri ballot in November for election to the U.S. Presidency.

The American Independent Party presented petitions containing 61,000 names to Kirkpatrick several weeks ago. The Secretary's office explained that to be placed on the Missouri ballot, a third party candidate must gain the signatures of either one per cent of the voters in any 10 Congressional districts or two per cent in any five districts. The 61,000 names submitted were over three times as many names as were needed.

The American Independent Party was formed this year with Wallace's announcement that he would seek the Presidency through a third party. The party's emblem is an American Eagle holding a banner upon which is inscribed "Stand Up for America".

After the Wallace petitions were presented to the Secretary of State's office, they had to be checked for any irregularities which would cut down on the number of legal signatures or possibly void the petition. Since it would be physically impossible to check every name, techniques are used such as making sure the names on a page were not all the same handwriting. Pages were also selected at random and sent to voter registration boards for verification.

The 61,000 petition signers, if they all voted for Wallace in the general election, could have an important bearing in the Missouri general election as they would be equal to about seven per cent of the voters who participated in the recent primary. And, in this age of facts and figures, that seven per cent could be the difference in winning or losing to any of the three parties on the ballot.

Before 1953, political parties were allowed to appear on the ballot merely by filing a certificate of nomination with the Secretary of State's office. The 1952 presidential ballot listed eight parties in Missouri, with the six minor parties getting only 2800 of the 1,900,000 votes cast in Missouri. According to the Missouri Blue Book, this will be the first time in 16 years that a third party has appeared on the ballot, in accordance with the petition law.

STATE FAIR BREAKS ATTENDANCE RECORDS

Officials of the Missouri State Fair were starting to think that this would be an off year. Attendance figures were really not that bad, but it appeared that the attendance record set last year would go unbroken. However, it was discovered that season ticketholders were not being counted in the daily attendance figures, and when they were, a new attendance record had been set -- 322,238 for the week-long event.

The record crowd drawn to "Showcase '68" was greeted with lots of fine weather, free top entertainment and an expanded exhibit area. Visitors were pampered in a new grandstand and concession stands, and used the camping facilities recently setup to lure guests who would stay more than just for the day.

Even the livestock exhibits showed a gain in participation and for the first time had participants from 10 foreign nations.

The Missiouri State Fair now enjoys prominence as one of the best fairs in the nation and, if Missiourians and out-of-staters continue to come each year in record-breaking numbers, will easily be one of the biggest.

White House

The President's house in Washington was painted white to hide the marks of fire on the walls, which were all that remained standing after the British had fired it in the War of 1812. The name White House for the building dates from this era.

The Editor
Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Editor:

Several times this year we have had called to our attention the fine Right To Work articles your paper has printed. Members of our State-wide Organization have noted your paper has printed many of our news releases, and have sent us copies of our scrap book.

We sincerely appreciate the exposure in your newspaper. If we are to succeed in obtaining a Freedom of Choice Law for all Missourians, we must conduct an extensive compaign to bring the true facts before all voters. The coverage in the Sikeston Standard has been a positive benefit to our organization.

In view of the Democratic Platform pledge to "repeal open shop laws" - we feel 1968 will be a major effort on our part to keep the public informed on Right To Work progress. We would appreciate your continued informativefeatures, in the Standard.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Glen Mittelberg

In the party was Evangeline, the bride, subject of Longfellow's famous poem about the evicted 6,000 Acadians who refused to renounce their allegiance to France and become British subjects in Nova Scotia.

Longfellow's version goes on to tell how the bridegroom, Gabriel Lajeunnesse, was taken to Louisiana while his bride, Evangeline Bellefontaine was left in New England; she followed in a vain search for her husband, and finally found her beloved dying in an almshouse where she was serving as a Sister of Mercy.

There is considerable speculation about the place of the actual reunion; at St. Martinville, La., her grave is supposed to be under the Evangeline Oak, one of the most famous trees in the country.

There is strong historical evidence that the Acadians, exiled from Nova Scotia homes, voyaged down the Atlantic Coast to the Chesapeake Bay area, where they came ashore and started overland across the maountains, and built boats on upper tributaries of the Tennessee River, floating down the Tennessee and the Ohio into the Mississippi, thence on to Louisiana where they established their new Acadia and a language, folkways and culture still charming.

There is plenty of evidence that they paused on the site of what now is Chattanooga, and the presumption is strong that they must have tied up along these bluffs, somewhere between what is now Shelby Forest and the foot of the bluffs below Riverside Park.

When the Memphis Centennial Commission makes its list of notables who have paused on these bluffs, they should give special attention to Evangeline and the Acadians.

Indeed, so many of the greats were here —Alexis de Tocqueville, whose book "Democracy In America" reads like inspired prophecy, paused here to see displaced Indians from Georgia and Florida loaded on flatboats to be ferried across the river and move along their Trail of Tears; here Mark Twain invoked a blessing on the city because Memphis cared when his brother was fatally injured in a steamboat explosion.

Memphians were among the last people to see Meriwether Lewis alive in 1809, when the leader of Jefferson's Lewis & Clark Expedition came ashore from a riverboat, took a horse, and set out toward Washington, to die of gunshot wounds near what is now Hohenwald.

Jefferson Davis lived here; tradition tells that Abraham Lincoln cut firewood in Arkansas opposite Memphis to pay passage on a riverboat from New Orleans.

Probably the most elaborate soiree ever to grace these bluffs was during the visit of Russia's Grand Duke alexis when Mid-South belles danced with the son of a czar in 1872.

Right to Work

CHICAGO, ILL. -- Using the language of President Kennedy and former Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, executives of the National Right to Work Committee urged the Democratic National Convention's platform committee to adopt a voluntary unionism campaign plank.

Executive Vice President Reed Larson of the Washington-based coalition of employers and employees, including 10,000 union members testified before Panel III in the Amphitheater:

"It is our hope that this platform committee and this Convention will endorse the principle of employee free choice, not only for employees of the federal government as was ennunciated by President Kennedy and endorsed by Secretary Goldberg, but also for all employees both in public and private employment.

S. D. Cadwallader, President of the National Right to Work Committee and a union member for 27 years, told the delegates that under existing conditions compulsory unions deny employment opportunities to minority groups.

"These violations of the political freedom of American citizens must be stopped," Mr. Cadwallader declared.

Testifying at length Mr. Larson said, "We believe it is entirely consistent with the expressed concern for the rights and freedoms of the working man that this great political party should align itself with the worker's freedom to choose for himself membership or non-membership in a private organization -- a labor union."

Mr. Larson said millions of Americans are presently captives of compulsory unionism, "... and the wrong is compounded by the fact that much of the exacted tribute is spent on politics ... those very public officials whose campaigns are supported by forced union dues often use their offices to perpetuate the system of compulsory unionism under which they derive forced campaign support from unwilling workers. It is hard to conceive a more odious conflict of interest."

Mr. Larson told the platform committee that proposed legislation featuring the language of President Kennedy's 1962 Executive Order 10988 is now pending before Congress with bi-partisan support and is known as the "Federal Employees Freedom of Choice Act."

He quoted President Kennedy's Executive Order as stating "Employees of the Federal Government shall have, and shall be protected in the exercise of, the right, freely and without fear of penalty or reprisal, to form, join and assist any employee organization or to refrain from such activity."

GEORGE WALLACE CANDIDACY CERTIFIED FOR STATE BALLOT

JEFFERSON City, Mo, - Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick has certified the placing of George C. Wallace's name on the Missouri ballot in November for election to the U.S. Presidency.

The American Independent Party presented petitions containing 61,000 names to Kirkpatrick several weeks ago. The Secretary's office explained that to be placed on the Missouri ballot, a third party candidate must gain the signatures of either one per cent of the voters in any 10 Congressional districts or two per cent in any five districts. The 61,000 names submitted were over three times as many names as were needed.

The American Independent Party was formed this year with Wallace's announcement that he would seek the Presidency through a third party. The party's emblem is an American Eagle holding a banner upon which is inscribed "Stand Up for America".

After the Wallace petitions were presented to the Secretary of State's office, they had to be checked for any irregularities which would cut down on the number of legal signatures or possibly void the petition. Since it would be physically impossible to check every name, techniques are used such as making sure the names on a page were not all the same handwriting. Pages were also selected at random and sent to voter registration boards for verification.

The 61,000 petition signers, if they all voted for Wallace in the general election, could have an important bearing in the Missouri general election as they would be equal to about seven per cent of the voters who participated in the recent primary. And, in this age of facts and figures, that seven per cent could be the difference in winning or losing to any of the three parties on the ballot.

Before 1953, political parties were allowed to appear on the ballot merely by filing a certificate of nomination with the Secretary of State's office. The 1952 presidential ballot listed eight parties in Missouri, with the six minor parties getting only 2800 of the 1,900,000 votes cast in Missouri. According to the Missouri Blue Book, this will be the first time in 16 years that a third party has appeared on the ballot, in accordance with the petition law.

STATE FAIR BREAKS ATTENDANCE RECORDs

Officials of the Missouri State Fair were starting to think that this would be an off year. Attendance figures were really not that bad, but it appeared that the attendance record set last year would go unbroken. However, it was discovered that season ticketholders were not being counted in the daily attendance figures, and when they were, a new attendance record had been set -- 322,238 for the week-long event.

The record crowd drawn to "Showcase '68" was greeted with lots of fine weather, free top entertainment and an expanded exhibit area. Visitors were pampered in a new grandstand and concession stands, and used the camping facilities recently setup to lure guests who would stay more than just for the day.

Even the livestock exhibits showed a gain in participation and for the first time had participants from 10 foreign nations.

The Missiouri State Fair now enjoys prominence as one of the best fairs in the nation and, if Missiourians and out-of-staters continue to come each year in record-breaking numbers, will easily be one of the biggest.

White House

The President's house in Washington was painted white to hide the marks of fire on the walls, which were all that remained standing after the British had fired it in the War of 1812. The name White House for the building dates from this era.

Sikeston Standard

Dear Editor:

Several times this year we have had called to our attention the fine Right To Work articles your paper has printed. Members of our State-wide Organization have noted your paper has printed many of our news releases, and have sent us copies of our scrap book.

We sincerely appreciate the exposure in your newspaper. If we are to succeed in obtaining a Freedom of Choice Law for all Missourians, we must conduct an extensive compaign to bring the true facts before all voters. The coverage in the Sikeston Standard has been a positive benefit to our organization.

In view of the Democratic Platform pledge to "repeal open shop laws" - we feel 1968 will be a major effort on our part to keep the public informed on Right To Work progress. We would appreciate your continued informativefeatures, in the Standard.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Glen Mittelberg

No Push-ups for Privates

New Exercise Program Tested

FORT POLK, La. (ANF) — Privates in a basic combat training company here don't do push-ups.

But these newcomers to the U.S. Army are not missing out on their physical training. Instead of some of the normal Army exercises such as push-ups, sit-ups and deep-knee bends, the trainees are using modern exercises designed to keep astronauts physically fit.

Pilot Program

In a pilot program, E Company, 3d Battalion, 1st Basic Combat Training Brigade, is testing for military use exercises originally developed for physical conditioning in the confines of a space capsule. The exercises are performed with the aid of a small mechanical device.

The device operates on the principle of resistance caused by the friction of a braided rope being drawn around a shaft—similar to a half-hitch. It can be adjusted from negligible resistance to a pull greater than the strength of a normal man and can be mounted inside or outside, or, for some exercises, held with the feet.

12 Exercises

In the experimental program, the 6-inch-by-2½-inch device, with accompanying hand-hold lines and trail lines, is used in 12 exercises. Most of the exercises begin with a 10-second isometric hold and conclude with a 12-second isotonic movement.

The isometric phase places muscle pressure against an immovable weight and the isotonic phase matches movement of muscles against a pre-set movable weight. The combination of these two exercising principles develops strength, endurance and body flexibility at the same time.

Conventional Training Replaced

These exercises replace about three-fourths of conventional physical training in the new program. Still in use are the mile run, the horizontal ladder and other activities that keep hands and feet tough, a benefit not found in the new exercise program.

Training officers say the trainees have been enthusiastic about the new exercise program. The officers feel the exercises have a distinct psychological advantage over other forms of physical training.

Privates Larry M. Uhle (left) of Los Angeles and Ray K. Trent Jr. of Tulsa, Okla., demonstrate the "military press," one of 12 exercises in a new physical conditioning program being used by a Fort Polk, La., basic training company.

Earlier tests at Fort Polk have indicated that the exercises significantly reduce the amount of time necessary for physical conditioning. In one five-week test, drill sergeant candidates using the new exercises scored higher on the physical combat proficiency test than other candidates who used the regular Army physical training drills. The higher score was achieved even though the group spent only one-third as much time on physical training.

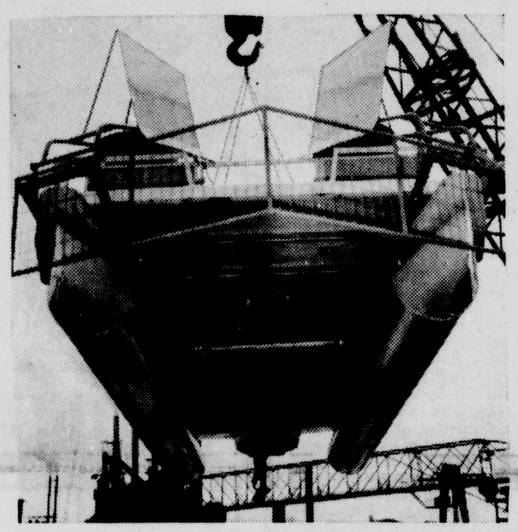
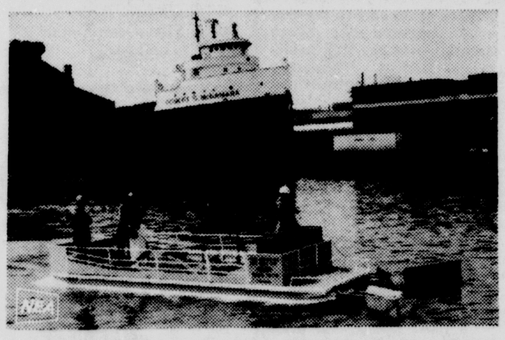
The Korean monsoon season presented some problems along portions of the 151-mile DMZ, but the soldiers from Company C, 1st Battalion, 32d Infantry, 7th Infantry Division, used the raft to protect themselves from knee-deep water. Private Hawk is from Uniontown, Pa.





"SUPER SPONGE," a new oil skimmer, is lowered into the boat slip near Dearborn, Mich., top, where the outboard-powered catamaran went to work soaking up oil with a water-repellent polyurethane foam roller. The boat, which can collect as much as 2,100 gallons of light viscosity oil in an hour, cruises waters around Ford's Rouge industrial area, bottom, adding mobility to the company's pollution-control facilities.

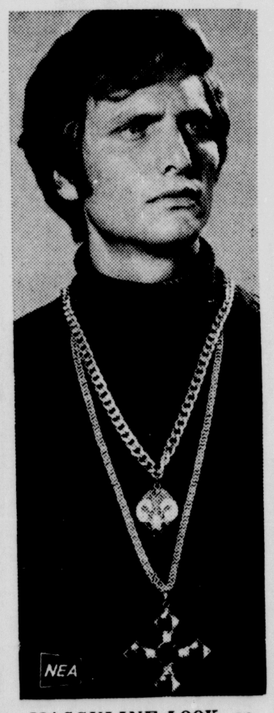
SMALL APPETITE

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Ed Diddle, retired basketball coach at Western Kentucky University, purchased a pie and the baker asked if he wanted it sliced.

"Yes," said Diddle, "cut it in four pieces."

"If you like," the baker continued, "I can cut it in six pieces."

"Nope, I couldn't eat six pieces," Diddle answered.



MASCULINE LOOK, according to award-winning designers Edward Dunne and Calvin Townsand, is embodied in these two pendants. The ram's head (shorter chain) is of inlaid Swarovski jet and crystal on antiqued gunmetal. On a longer chain is a gold-colored Maltese Cross with a large simulated ruby in the center.

THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI

Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1½" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutters on Ralph Street from Malone to Betty, in accordance with plans & specifications, in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: SECTION 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. SECTION 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. SECTION 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.80 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. SECTION 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. SECTION 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. SECTION 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 3rd day of September, 1968. Approved: Kendall Sikes Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk. 296-INC. 302

No Push-ups for Privates

New Exercise Program Tested

FORT POLK, La. (ANF) — Privates in a basic combat training company here don't do push-ups.

But these newcomers to the U.S. Army are not missing out on their physical training. Instead of some of the normal Army exercises such as push-ups, sit-ups and deep-knee bends, the trainees are using modern exercises designed to keep astronauts physically fit.

Pilot Program

In a pilot program, E Company, 3d Battalion, 1st Basic Combat Training Brigade, is testing for military use exercises originally developed for physical conditioning in the confines of a space capsule. The exercises are performed with the aid of a small mechanical device.

The device operates on the principle of resistance caused by the friction of a braided rope being drawn around a shaft—similar to a half-hitch. It can be adjusted from negligible resistance to a pull greater than the strength of a normal man and can be mounted inside or outside, or, for some exercises, held with the feet.

12 Exercises

In the experimental program, the 6-inch-by-2½-inch device, with accompanying hand-hold lines and trail lines, is used in 12 exercises. Most of the exercises begin with a 10-second isometric hold and conclude with a 12-second isotonic movement.

The isometric phase places muscle pressure against an immovable weight and the isotonic phase matches movement of muscles against a pre-set movable weight. The combination of these two exercising principles develops strength, endurance and body flexibility at the same time.

Conventional Training Replaced

These exercises replace about three-fourths of conventional physical training in the new program. Still in use are the mile run, the horizontal ladder and other activities that keep hands and feet tough, a benefit not found in the new exercise program.

Training officers say the trainees have been enthusiastic about the new exercise program. The officers feel the exercises have a distinct psychological advantage over other forms of physical training.

Privates Larry M. Uhle (left) of Los Angeles and Ray K. Trent Jr. of Tulsa, Okla., demonstrate the "military press," one of 12 exercises in a new physical conditioning program being used by a Fort Polk, La., basic training company.

Earlier tests at Fort Polk have indicated that the exercises significantly reduce the amount of time necessary for physical conditioning. In one five-week test, drill sergeant candidates using the new exercises scored higher on the physical combat proficiency test than other candidates who used the regular Army physical training drills. The higher score was achieved even though the group spent only one-third as much time on physical training.

FAIRFIELD, Calif. -- Robert S. Matthews Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Matthews of 1010 N. Ranney, Sikeston, Mo., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force.

Airman Matthews is an air operations specialist at Travis AFB, Calif. He is a member of the Miliary Airlift Command.

(M0330) GREAT LAKES, ILL. (FHTNC) - Seaman Apprentice Lawrence E. Wilson, USN, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Wilson of Route 3, Dexter, Mo., has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, miliary drill and other subjects.

FT. LEONARD WOOD, MO. (AHTNC) -- Army Private Thomas L. Brack, 21, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O.Brack, and wife, Virginia, live at 107 Kirkendall St., East Prairie, Mo., completed advanced training as a combat engineer August 23 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his eight-weeks of training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance.

He was also trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, and camouflage and demolition.

SHREVEPORT, La. -- Technical Sergeant Phillip W. Bledsoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bledsoe of 409 Rodney, Charleston, Mo., has been graduated from the U. S. Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Barksdale AFB, La.

The sergeant, a first sergeant, received advanced military leadership and management training. He is assigned at Little Rock AFB, Ark., in a unitof the Strategic Air Command.

Sergeant Bledsoe is a graduate of St. Henrys High School.

Dear Editor:

I asked several people what they thought about busing rich people to Washington to get a balance of assemblage in camping. After all, why should a poor man have more than a rich man? Didn't Abraham Lincoln say that all men are created equal. Why do things half way? If we're going to have a "mark of the best" totalitarian state, let's have a good one.

You'd be surprised at the answers to this question. Everyone said they'd like to go to Washington and masquerade as rich people. I guess they think it's just a TV show. I also think they are tired of getting up in the morning and going to work.

Sincerely,
George Spriestersbach

Ann Landers

One Complains, One Praises Her Advice

Dear Ann Landers: You keep saying you consult doctors- so why didn't you, before you gave that wrong answer to the man whose wife is in her 17th month of pregnacy? You made it sound as if such a thing is impossible.

Haven't you ever heard of a stone baby? My niece was pregnant for two years. The baby died before birth and turned to stone. If the doctor had known what was happening he could have performed an operation at nine months and saved the baby. As it was, the baby was dead when the doctor took it.

My niece and her husband had to get both a birth certificate and a death certificate. No one in the family had ever heard of such a thing. So before you hand out half-baked advice that could cause trouble between a man and wife why don't you check with somebody who knows something ----- O. CITY COMPLAINT

Dear Complaint: When the fetus dies before birth, nature usually arranges natural abortion. On rare occasions, the tetus becomes calcified and this stony formation must be taken surgically. The woman who is carrying a fetus that is no longer living is not considered pregnant.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-ager who thinks it is disgracetul the way people write in and call you a miserable witch and a crummy old lady. If they think so little of you why do they write in for advice?

The trouble with a lot of people is they hate to hear the truth. When they ask for your opinion and it turns out they are wrong, they try to get even by saying something insulting.

I think it's time someone wrote you a nice letter. I, for one, appreciate your down-to-earth advice. I think you deserve a lot of credit for reading all that mail and doing your best day after day and year after year. In our household you are like a member of the family. We discuss your column at the dinner table almost every night and it has helped us understand each other better. So thank you, Ann Landers. We think you are as sound as the Liberty Bell. - PITTSBURGH

Dear Pittsburgh: Do you know that the Liberty Bell is cracked? Thank you for your nice letter, anyway. I really do appreciate it.

Dear Ann Landers: The lady next door lost her husband two months ago. The minister is still going to her house at least two afternoons a week to console her. Isn't this a little unusual?

I like the woman and the minister is a very nice person. I am not saying anything is wrong, but I do feel they should not let themselves in for unnecessary gossip.

What is your opinion? -- A FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

Dear Neighbor: I'm all for cutting out unnecessary gossip. Why don't you start with yourself?

If you have trouble getting along with your parents ... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 ¢ in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Conscientious Objector Seeks Right to Vote

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Peter was firm in his convictions and, consequently, was convicted of refusing to report for induction. An honest-to-goodness conscientious objector, he threw himself on the mercy of the court and was given a three-year jail sentence for violating the Selective Service Act.

A man of good will, however, Peter bore no ill will against those responsible for his being sent to jail. It was only when he was later denied his right to vote in a national election that Peter became upset with the authorities.

'Sorry," he was told, "but under state law anyone convicted of an infamous crime can't vote." 'I committed no infamous crime," was Peter's pious and patient answer. "I was convicted of refusing to kill fellow human beings for religious reasons. That's not infamous. That's commendable!"

intent upon voting in the electionPeter took the matter to court. IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit pious Peter to vote in the election?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! In so holding, the judge pointed out that disqualifying a person from voting because he has committed an "infamous crime" was intended to protect the ballot box from morally corrupt and dishonest people. A person who is a bona fide conscientious objector and who has been convicted of refusing to report for induction has not been convicted of an infamous crime.

(Based upon a 1966 California Supreme Court Decision)

The Prayer from The Upper Room

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9;23)

PRAYER: Father, only by the Holy Spirit's presence and power can I accept and carry my cross. Help me. Free me of my sins and shortcomings that I may better serve The this day. Amen.

Poll Rates Johnson's Popularity at Lowest Point

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) - President Johnson's popularity among Americans has hit a record low, according to the Gallup Poll.

A nationwide survey shows that only 35 per cent of those questioned approved of the way the president is performing his job, the poll said Wednesday. Some 52 per cent disapproved.

President Johnson's previous low in popularity was 36 per cent last March, just before he said he was limiting bombing of North Vietnam and would not seek re-election.

FAIRFIELD, Calif. -- Robert S. Matthews Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Matthews of 1010 N. Ranney, Sikeston, Mo., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force.

Airman Matthews is an air operations specialist at Travis AFB, Calif. He is a member of the Miliary Airlift Command.

(M0330) GREAT LAKES, ILL. (FHTNC) - Seaman Apprentice Lawrence E. Wilson, USN, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Wilson of Route 3, Dexter, Mo., has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, miliary drill and other subjects.

FT. LEONARD WOOD, MO. (AHTNC) -- Army Private Thomas L. Brack, 21, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O.Brack, and wife, Virginia, live at 107 Kirkendall St., East Prairie, Mo., completed advanced training as a combat engineer August 23 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his eight-weeks of training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance.

He was also trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, and camouflage and demolition.

SHREVEPORT, La. -- Technical Sergeant Phillip W. Bledsoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bledsoe of 409 Rodney, Charleston, Mo., has been graduated from the U. S. Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Barksdale AFB, La.

The sergeant, a first sergeant, received advanced military leadership and management training. He is assigned at Little Rock AFB, Ark., in a unitof the Strategic Air Command.

Sergeant Bledsoe is a graduate of St. Henrys High School.

Ann Landers

One Complains, One Praises Her Advice

Dear Ann Landers: You keep saying you consult doctors- so why didn't you, before you gave that wrong answer to the man whose wife is in her 17th month of pregnacy? You made it sound as if such a thing is impossible.

Haven't you ever heard of a stone baby? My niece was pregnant for two years. The baby died before birth and turned to stone. If the doctor had known what was happening he could have performed an operation at nine months and saved the baby. As it was, the baby was dead when the doctor took it.

My niece and her husband had to get both a birth certificate and a death certificate. No one in the family had ever heard of such a thing. So before you hand out half-baked advice that could cause trouble between a man and wife why don't you check with somebody who knows something ----- O. CITY COMPLAINT

Dear Complaint: When the fetus dies before birth, nature usually arranges natural abortion. On rare occasions, the fetus becomes calcified and this stony formation must be taken surgically. The woman who is carrying a fetus that is no longer living is not considered pregnant.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-ager who thinks it is disgracetul the way people write in and call you a miserable witch and a crummy old lady. If they think so little of you why do they write in for advice?

The trouble with a lot of people is they hate to hear the truth. When they ask for your opinion and it turns out they are wrong, they try to get even by saying something insulting.

I think it's time someone wrote you a nice letter. I, for one, appreciate your down-to-earth advice. I think you deserve a lot of credit for reading all that mail and doing your best day after day and year after year. In our household you are like a member of the family. We discuss your column at the dinner table almost every night and it has helped us understand each other better. So thank you, Ann Landers. We think you are as sound as the Liberty Bell. - PITTSBURGH

Dear Pittsburgh: Do you know that the Liberty Bell is cracked? Thank you for your nice letter, anyway. I really do appreciate it.

Dear Ann Landers: The lady next door lost her husband two months ago. The minister is still going to her house at least two afternoons a week to console her. Isn't this a little unusual?

I like the woman and the minister is a very nice person. I am not saying anything is wrong, but I do feel they should not let themselves in for unnecessary gossip.

What is your opinion? -- A FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

Dear Neighbor: I'm all for cutting out unnecessary gossip. Why don't you start with yourself?

If you have trouble getting along with your parents ... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 ¢ in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Conscientious Objector Seeks Right to Vote

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Peter was firm in his convictions and, consequently, was convicted of refusing to report for induction. An honest-to-goodness conscientious objector, he threw himself on the mercy of the court and was given a three-year jail sentence for violating the Selective Service Act.

A man of good will, however, Peter bore no ill will against those responsible for his being sent to jail. It was only when he was later denied his right to vote in a national election that Peter became upset with the authorities.

"Sorry," he was told, "but under state law anyone convicted of an infamous crime can't vote." "I committed no infamous crime," was Peter's pious and patient answer. "I was convicted of refusing to kill fellow human beings for religious reasons. That's not infamous. That's commendable!"

Intent upon voting in the election Peter took the matter to court. IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit pious Peter to vote in the election?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! In so holding, the judge pointed out that disqualifying a person from voting because he has committed an "infamous crime" was intended to protect the ballot box from morally corrupt and dishonest people. A person who is a bona fide conscientious objector and who has been convicted of refusing to report for induction has not been convicted of an infamous crime.

(Based upon a 1966 California Supreme Court Decision)

The Prayer from The Upper Room

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9;23)

PRAYER: Father, only by the Holy Spirit's presence and power can I accept and carry my cross. Help me. Free me of my sins and shortcomings that I may better serve The this day. Amen.

Poll Rates Johnson's Popularity at Lowest Point

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) - President Johnson's popularity among Americans has hit a record low, according to the Gallup Poll.

A nationwide survey shows that only 35 per cent of those questioned approved of the way the president is performing his job, the poll said Wednesday. Some 52 per cent disapproved.

President Johnson's previous low in popularity was 36 per cent last March, just before he said he was limiting bombing of North Vietnam and would not seek re-election.

Today is Monday, Sept. 9, the 253rd day of 1968. There are 113 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the Second Continental Congress made the term "United States" official. The term previously had been "United Colonies."

On this date:

In 1753, the first steam engine in the American Colonies, imported from England, arrived in New York.

In 1836, Abraham Lincoln was licensed to practice law in Illinois.

In 1850, California was admitted to the Union as the 31st state.

In 1894, Sun Yat-sen led his first attempt at revolution in China.

In 1945, at the end of World War II, the one million Japanese soldiers in China formally surrendered at a ceremony in Nanking.

Also in 1945, U.S. troops landed in South Korea, and the Russians took over the northern half of the country from Japan.

Ten years ago: Moscow was studying a U.S. proposal to study the technical aspects of safeguards against surprise attack.

Five years ago: A federal injunction was issued against Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama after he ordered state police to halt school integration in Birmingham, Tuskegee and Mobile.

One year ago: The Labor Department announced that the nation's employment had reached a record high.

Places Second In Ad Contest

Bernice Cummins, advertising saleswoman for the Daily Standard, won second place for dailies at Columbia Friday in a best idea contest.

Her winning entry was a double-page color ad for Buckner-Ragsdale Company and was carried in the Standard's annual progress edition in February.

The contest was held as part of an advertising workshop at the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri.

First place winner was the Columbia Tribune.
